Backers of Presidential Nomination Aspirants Busy Pending Conclave Next Week

THIRD PARTY PLAN FAILS

Farmer-Laborites Reject Proposal To Call Organizing Convention in September

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON June 1—Republican leaders started the trek to Cleveland today amid increased activity by backers of men who next week will make final bids to become the party's standard bearer in the fall election

As the race entered the home stretch one immediate threat of a third party collapsed when a Chicago conference sponsored by Farmer Laborites defeated a motion to call an organizing convention not later than Sept 5

Democrats Waiting

With attention for the time being centered on fast moving Republican preparations for the big quadrennial show beginning June 9 Democratic activities were outwardly quiet as plans went forward for the Philadelphia meeting later this month

Sen Vandenberg of Michigan among those prominently mentioned as a Republican presidential possibility spoke to a radio audience last night in a broadcast interview by H V Kaltenborn commentator

Vandenberg asserted that a victory for his party in November would not be a Republican victory in any ordinary partisan sense of the word

It will be a joint victory of Republicans and Democrats against a common enemy which is in effect a third party—the Roosevelt party"

Another of the Republicans being talked about for the nomination—Sen Dickinson of Iowa—faced a popularity test today in his state's primary election

Dickinson is up for renomination and has five opponents including Smith W Brookhart his former colleague who was defeated for re-election in the Democratic landslide of 1932 Supporters said that no matter what happens in the voting today Dickinson seemed certain of getting the national convention support of Iowas 22 unpledged delegates

NORMANDIE SEA MARK NOT CUT BY QUEEN MARY

British Liner Makes Maiden Voyage at Average Speed of 29 133 Knots

FRENCH MADE 29 64 KNOTS

Comparison of Figures Complicated by Fact Ships Traveled Different Distances

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK June 1 — Completing her first voyage across the Atlantic the British liner Queen Mary put into New York harbor today—but she failed to surpass the record crossing established by the Normandie last year

The Queen Mary passed Ambrose lightship at 7 55 a m (Marion time) and proceeded up Ambrose channel to quarantine She was not due to dock until late this afternoon.

The average speed of the Queen Mary according to an unofficial announcement was 29 133 knots

Normandie Hit 29 64

The average speed of the Normandie on her maiden trip was 29 64 knots

The comparison was complicated by the fact that the Queen Mary's crossing was measured from Cherbourg breakwater to Ambrose while the crossing of the Normandie was measured from Bishops Rock light at the entrance to the English channel to Ambrose 198 nautical miles shorter

At the office of the Cunard line it was stated the Queen Mary after leaving Cherbourg breakwater at 7 35 p m (Marion time) last Wednesday passed Bishops Rock light at 1 17 a m (Marion time) Thursday

On this basis it took the Queen Mary 4 days 6 hours and 35 minutes from Bishops Rock to Ambrose

The Normandie's record for the same distance was four days 3 hours 13 minutes and 38 seconds

The welcoming of the new liner began as soon as she passed the lightship Three U S army planes in formation flew over the ship with other planes circling about as the Queen Mary slowed down to take on the pilot at the entrance to the channel

HABEAS CORPUS SUIT HEARD HERE TODAY

Action Over Custody of Child Halted by Columbus Court Entry

A journal entry made by a Franklin county domestic relations court last July 5 appeared today to have put an abrupt end to a habeas corpus proceedings brought in common pleas court here by Mrs Bernice Sekinger of South State street to gain custody of her seven year old child

A certified copy of the Columbus court's entry was introduced at a hearing of the habeas corpus proceedings before Common Pleas Judge Hector S Young this morning

In it the Columbus court had awarded temporary custody of seven year old Jean Sekinger to Mrs Flo Sekinger of South Main street a sister in law of George Sekinger of Columbus the girl's father attorneys said The entry was made in a divorce case that George Sekinger had filed in Columbus against the girl's mother in April of 1934 and which is still pending in that court

Judge Young expressed the opinion that the Columbus court had jurisdiction over custody of the child and suggested that Mrs Sekinger's only course to obtain custody of the child would be to attack the order in that court

At the request of Russell M Wilhelm representing Mrs Sekinger Judge Young withheld a final order dismissing the habeas corpus action to give Mr Wilhelm time to check the entry of the Columbus court.

During the brief hearing this morning the girl over whom the action brought was attending classes in the first grade at the Pearl Street school Judge Young previously had given permission to leave her in school this morning

The Columbus court's entry was brought into the case this morning by an answer filed by Mrs. Flo Sekinger of South Main street, wife of George Sekinger's brother, through Fred W Warner who represented the three persons named by the girl's mother in her habeas corpus proceedings. Those named were Sekinger's mother and his brother and sister-in-law.

The girl's mother has been living in Marion several months and now is employed in the county old age pension office. The father, a former Marion resident, has been living in Columbus several years and now is employed by the state division of conservation.

Twenty Seven Men and Women Placed on Committee To Map WPA Program

PROBLEM HERE IS ACUTE

A W Kette Temporary Chairman, Meeting To Be Called in Short Time

Twenty seven men and women representing various civic organizations and business interests were named on a ways and means committee today to work out the problem of financing the federal WPA program in Marion city and county

Appointments to the committee were made by R T Lewis president of the Marion Chamber of commerce who served as chairman of a public meeting last week to consider a way to solve the serious WPA and relief situation here The personnel of the committee is not yet complete and several more names will be added within a few days A W Kette has been named temporary chairman and is expected to call a meeting of the group this week

The WPA problem became acute recently when a number of projects had to be stopped because there were no funds for the purchase of materials A number of other projects most of them sponsored by the city have been lagging because the city is unable to buy materials It is hoped that some means will be devised by the new committee to insure continuance of the federal works program here

HIGHEST COURT KILLS MINIMUM WAGE LAW

Zioncheck Put in Hospital on 'Unsound Mind' Charge

Playboy Lawmaker Arrested After Making Two Futile Attempts To See President Roosevelt.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON June 1—Rep Marion A Zioncheck of Washington state was charged today in an order committing him to Gallinger hospital with being of unsound mind"

The charge was sworn to by J P Stump sanitary officer of the District of Columbia

The commitment was presented when police took Zioncheck to Gallinger hospital after arresting him at the Naval hospital During the morning the representative had called at the White House executive offices twice asking to see the President

On the back of the commitment order was the following notation by Inspector Barnard Thompson chief of detectives

Cites Reckless Driving

This man has been driving his automobile in a reckless manner over the streets of the District of Columbia and annoying prominent officials and citizens and is believed to be of unsound mind His arrest culminated a day of excitement during which Zioncheck drove down a busy sidewalk at 60 miles an hour and visited police court

Naval hospital officials said Zioncheck had reported voluntarily to the institution a few minutes before police arrived to arrest him

Telling the naval doctors that they had orders to lodge the representative in the City hospital the two burly detectives took him by each arm

All I want Zioncheck cried "is to be given a thorough examination

Inside of The pass said the representative would be placed under medical observation"

Wants To Use His Car

With the detectives on either side of him Zioncheck who was dressed in a black and white checked suit and tennis shoes was marched out of the government hospital and heeded toward the detectives auto mobile

I'm going in my car" shouted Zioncheck breaking away from one of the officers

His black roadster was parked a few feet away

Grabbing the congressman more firmly by his arms the two detectives who were now joined by uniformed policemen hurled Zioncheck into the rear of the police car

Fears Hand Grenades

Look out yelled Zioncheck for these hand grenades

The congressman clawed a railing on the back of the automobile seat clenched his teeth and pulled away at the railing

As the three officers pried his hands loose with considerable difficulty Zioncheck continued to shout that hand grenades were in the car

The only objects on the floor were a police flashlight lantern and a first aid kit

Exhausted from the struggle Zioncheck finally fell back against the seat

The police car with a motorcycle officer clearing the way sped down Constitution avenue past the Capitol and on to the hospital

Without resistance the congressman was led into the institution

Officials decried on the arrest while Zioncheck was driving around the city looking for his missing bride

George Allen one of the three commissioners who govern the capital Police Supt E W Brown and Vernon West of the District of Columbia legal staff conferred before the order went out to police small rare

Zioncheck ramblings started early in the day

He left a brief case containing empty beer bottles and a can of moth balls at the executive offices saying these were for the President"

Police on guard there talked with him briefly and he left driving his automobile to the courthouse mid way to the capitol

District Attorney Leslie Garnett said Zioncheck asked him to indict some public officials who might know where his missing bride could be found

After conferring with an assistant district attorney at police court Zioncheck dashed out of the building climbed into his roadster and in attempting to swing his car away from the curb banged into the rear of another car He drove close to several pedestrians as he drove through a stop light and disappeared

Assistant District Attorney Karl Kindlesberger said he had applied for an arrest warrant The application was denied

Zioncheck soon made a second appearance at the White House

He approached an officer shook hands with him and asked if the President was in The officer told

DETROIT SIFTS ANOTHER DEATH

Officials Seek To Link Hanging Shortly After Poole Slaying to Black Legion

WAS SUPPOSED SUICIDE

Body Found In Hut on Uninhabited Island in Canadian Waters.

By The Associated Press
DETROIT June 1 — Death crossed the sinister trail of the Black legion again today as authorities sought to learn if coincidence alone explained the hanging of Roy Pidcock within 24 hours after the slaying of Charles A Poole that unmasked the night riding terrorists

Adding the supposed suicide of Pidcock on a Canadian island to a list of a dozen deaths under scrutiny for possible Black legion connections state police also pressed their investigation of the shooting of John L Blenk an active member of the United Auto Workers union in 1934

The execution of Poole the one death definitely attributed to Black Legionnaires occurred May 13

Disappears Same Day

Pidcock 32 year old steel worker disappeared from his home in downriver Wyandotte Mich the same day His body was found hanging in a hut on uninhabited Fighting Island in Canadian waters of the Detroit river the following day

State Police Capt Ira H Marmon asked Canadian authorities to reopen their investigation of that death after a friend of the steel worker told him Pidcock had been invited to join the Black legion

The widow Mrs Nellie Pidcock said last night her husband told her shortly before his death "they're going to get me and they'll get you too"

Canadian provincial police said they were convinced that Pidcock swam to the island, a mile and a half from the mainland, and hanged himself Capt Marmon said a witness told him of seeing two boats circling the island about the time of Pidcock's death. "Apparently taking something to the island."

Inquiries Resumed

Two formal inquiries into terrorist activities of the Black legion were resumed today in Jackson and Flint, Mich. In Detroit, Michigan's attorney general conferred with Circuit Judge James E Chamot, who will open a grand jury investigation Wednesday or Thursday, for which witnesses from other counties will be subpoenaed.

In Washington a group of congressmen prepared to press for action on resolutions demanding congressional investigations of the terrorist [illegible] that it was [illegible] influence.

JUDGES SPLIT FIVE TO FOUR

State Act Setting Pay Level for Women and Children Labeled Curb of Liberty.

RIGHT TO CONTRACT CITED

Hughes Brandeis, Stone and Cardozo Dissent to Majority Ruling Read by Butler.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON June 1 — The supreme court declared unconstitutional today, a 1933 New York law establishing minimum wages for women and children by a five to four vote

The ground given was that the state law contravened the constitutional guarantee of liberty It was held that the right to make contracts must not be violated

Justice Butler spoke for the majority

Chief Justice Hughes and Justices Brandeis, Stone and Cardozo dissented

Justices Roberts Van Devanter Sutherland and McReynolds sided with Butler

Suit by Laundry Man

The legislation had been challenged by Joseph Ilgakio, Brooklyn laundry manager who was indicted for forgery in an alleged attempt to conceal violation of the law He won his freedom on a writ of habeas corpus

The law fixed the minimum wage for laundry workers at $12 40 a week

It was enacted and signed by Gov Herbert Lehman in 1933

A similar law for the District of Columbia was held unconstitutional by the supreme court 13 years ago New York attorneys said however their statute took into account the value of services rendered while the district law dealt only with the cost of living in determining the minimum wage

The majority opinion today held that the law violated the due process clause of the Constitution in that it deprived persons of the right to make contracts. This was similar to the grounds given in the action 13 years ago

NRA Guffey Similar

In the NRA and Guffey coal cases the court also had overturned efforts of the federal government to provide for minimum wages

The right to make contracts about one's affairs is a part of the liberty protected by the due process clause' the latest decision said of the state effort

Within this liberty are provisions of contracts between employer and employe fixing the wages to be paid

In making contracts of employment generally speaking the parties have equal right to obtain from each other the best terms they can by private bargaining

Similar Ohio Law Invalidated

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS O June 1 — Attorney General John W Bricker said today a United States supreme court decision holding New York's minimum wage law unconstitutional invalidated, in effect, a similar law in Ohio.

Ohio legislation governing wages for women and minors was patterned, Bricker said, almost word for word after the New York law.

Three cases challenging the constitutionality of Ohio's law are now before federal district courts in this state.

Bricker appeared before the U. S. supreme court and pleaded that the New York law was constitutional.

3,000 Hear Memorial Day Services At Cemetery

Preservation of Democracy Is New Challenge of Decoration Day, John W. Bricker Tells Audience.

To preserve in peace the democracy our fathers defended in war is the challenge Memorial day brings to the nation, Attorney General John W. Bricker declared in an address that featured Marion's observance of the holiday Saturday afternoon at Marion cemetery.

A crowd estimated at approximately 3,000 heard the talk and other hundreds saw a parade of patriotic, civic and fraternal groups and school children from the uptown district to the cemetery prior to the program.

The program was the outstanding single event of Memorial day and the week-end. The two-day holiday provided many Marion residents an opportunity to participate in varied forms of recreation.

Four of the 11 living Civil war veterans who went from this county to answer the call to preserve the union attended Saturday's service at Marion cemetery.

Five Vets Present

They are Francis S. Layton, 91, commander of Cooper Post of the G. A. R., who served as president of the day, L. A. Carhart, 73, of 367 Mt. Vernon avenue, William Brady, 91, of Agosta, and Henry Bierly, 94, of 141 Homer street.

Attorney General Bricker urged his listeners to serve the nation in peace with the same patriotism with which our veterans, living and dead, served the country in time of war."

He told of a wounded soldier, who, on the battlefield, promised God that if he were privileged to live he would live the life of two men—he would make not only his own contribution service to mankind but would try to serve also for one of his fellow-soldiers who had been killed. Using his pledge to God as an example, the speaker asserted it is the duty of those living today to serve not only for themselves but to "lead the lives our dead soldiers had hoped to live."

"As long as we gather in such numbers as we have today to mark the observance of Memorial day, the cause of America will be safe for centuries to come," he declared.

The challenge to preserve democracy is great today — the world is marked with conflicts and the "war to end war" was followed by governmental changes that virtually wiped democracy from the face of the earth excepting in America, he said.

Following his address here, Attorney General Bricker hurried to Coshocton to speak at a Memorial day service there.

Only 11 Veterans Living

The program began with brief remarks by T. E. Andrews, vice president of the day, who said that only 11 of the Civil war veterans who went to war from Marion county are living today. Of these, five are bedfast, he said.

Bands that took part in the parade played an overture, Rev. H. D. Halderman, chaplain of Bird-McGinnis post of the American Legion, pronounced invocation, and Commander Layton spoke a brief greeting to the crowd.

A public address system carried the voices of the speaker, and others on the program to the audience. Historic events of Civil war days were recalled when C. H. Howard read General Logan's order of May 5, 1868, creating Decoration day and J. W. Llewellyn delivered Lincoln's Gettysburg address. Mary Jane Llewellyn recited "In Flander's Field."

Immediately following the benediction by Rev. Halderman, who is pastor of the Fifa Memorial Baptist church, a salute was fired by a squad of National Guardsmen from Co. D., 166th Infantry under the command of Capt. H. L. Taylor.

As the services at the cemetery ended the major portion of the parade reformed to march back uptown and past the reviewing stand at the postoffice.

Steam generated in a tank by a gasoline torch is used to operate a portable airplane motor starter developed by United States army officers.

LIGHTS OUT

Patrol Chief and Motorist in Similar Fixes.

By The Associated Press

DELAWARE, O., June 1 — Col. Lynn Black, superintendent of the Ohio state patrol, noticed an auto with its tail light not burning. He pulled ahead of the driver.

"Now don't tell me you didn't know your tail light was out," began Black, reaching for a traffic summons.

"Sure, but so's yours," replied the motorist.

"And it was," admitted Black afterward, "so I hawled him out a little and let him go."

2 Clevelanders Have Hard Time Bathing a Python

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., June 1—Frank J. Loughney, 47, and Cliff Wilson, 45, knew a little more today about the tricky chore of bathing their 200-pound, 28-foot regal python.

The two men brought the reptile here from Singapore last week for exhibition purposes. Yesterday they decided to give it a bath.

Loughney spoke soothingly to the python and Wilson watched for the right moment to slip a muzzle over its head. Wilson was still waiting when the snake struck out and took Wilson's hand in his mouth, wrapping itself at the same time around Loughney's body.

For 45 minutes the men fought the powerful python. Torn and bruised they finally were freed by three friends and two policemen who managed to pull apart the coils looped around Loughney's body and free Wilson's hand.

The snake had coiled itself around both of Loughney's legs and his body. His wrist also was in the grip of the python.

Loughney and Wilson were treated at a hospital for cuts on their hands, then returned to the python.

"Now we not only have got to wash it," Loughney said, "but we have got to get in its mouth and see if Wilson's hand loosened any of its teeth. Those things are delicate, you know, if they aren't properly cared for."

WATERLOO WONDERS RELEASED ON BOND

They were indicted in connection with alleged threats made against Dr. J. O. Swango, Waterloo High school principal.

COMPLAINT FILED IN PORTSMOUTH TILT

By The Associated Press

PORTSMOUTH, O., June 1 — The national labor relations board had before it today a complaint from the Amalgamated Iron, Steel and Tin Workers contending that the Portsmouth works of the Wheeling Steel Corp. was attempting to promote departmental councils in violation of a board ruling.

The committee which presented the complaint did not request immediate enforcement, although the quarrel over company departmental councils is the basis of a strike which threw 5,500 plant employes out of work May 22. The committee said the steel corporation would be given a reasonable time to comply with the labor board order before prosecution was asked.

POPE HITS AT REDS IN TALK TO SOCIETY

Labels Communism an Impossible Attempt To Unite Truth With Falsehood.

By The Associated Press

VATICAN CITY, June 1 — A vigorous denunciation of communism by Pope Pius XI on his 79th birthday was left with delegates of Catholic Action societies in 22 nations who began their homeward journeys today.

They attended a solemn mass in St. Peter's yesterday where 40,000 pilgrims honored the Holy Father, the oldest ruler in the world.

The Pope received their salutes, listened to the great crowds cheer "viva il papa!" and then told them:

"Above all, guard yourselves against the dangers and insidiousness of communism, against those who are false prophets, dreaming of an impossible union—a union of truth with falsehood."

Twenty-three cardinals and 100 American delegates attended the services.

The celebration of his birthday was approved by Pope Pius after the Catholic Action societies suggested the world-wide pilgrimage.

For those unable to reach the Vatican in time for the ceremony, the pontiff will especially receive the delegations any time up to May 31, 1937.

PEASANTS MOBILIZE TO REMOVE LUPESCU

Leader Demands King's Friend Be Ousted and Nazis Suppressed.

By The Associated Press

BUCHAREST, Rumania, June 1 —The greatest Peasant party mobilization in Rumania's history, which developed into a protest against Mme. Magda Lupescu's power behind the throne, posed new problems for King Carol today.

The Peasant party's leader, Ion Mihalache, coupled a demand for banishment of Madame Lupescu with a call for suppression of Nazi organizations in Rumania and the immediate resignation of the government of Premier George Tatarescu.

More than 500,000 farmers participated in the parades and protest meetings yesterday—120,000 in the capital and 400,000 others in towns and villages throughout the provinces.

Political sources expressed apprehension that if Carol refused once more to part with Madame Lupescu, Mihalache might attempt to use his Peasant power to compel the king to banish the woman from the country.

As evidence of his strength, the peasant leader showed for the first time his organization's mounted police—hundreds of sturdy young farmers garbed in the national costume with a white cross on the sleeve.

These troops restored order quickly when fist fights broke out between peasants and Nazi students after the five-hour parade reviewed by Mihalache. The meeting which the leader addressed after the parade was orderly.

FOUR KENTUCKIANS DIE IN GUN BATTLES

Two Others Seriously Wounded During Scrapes in Clay and Laurel Counties.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Ky., June 1—Officials of Clay and Laurel counties today sifted week-end shootings which took the lives of four east Kentucklans and left two others seriously wounded.

A man listed as Perry Martin, of North Corbin was in jail today on a warrant charging him with the murder of former Magistrate Reed Taylor and his wife at a store operated by them near Keavy. Bearing a John Doe warrant Laurel county officials searched for a second man, said to have participated in the slaying.

In adjoining Clay county, scene of repeated occupations by national guardsmen and state police, county officials investigated the ambush slaying of Charlie Benge and Claude Scott. Dan Cupp, who was with Benge when the latter was shot from the underbrush was reported today to be recovering from wounds suffered in the attack.

A fourth Clay countian, Ki Philpot, 36, was reported recovering from gunshot wounds suffered in a fight at a party in Manchester the county seat.

Scott was killed while working in his garden by riflemen hidden in the surrounding hills.

HEALTH DIRECTOR TO ADDRESS GROUP

Dr. John Lo Cricchio To Speak Before Marion Sportsmen's Association.

Dr. John Lo Cricchio, city health commissioner, will address members of the Marion County Fish and Game Protective association at their monthly meeting to be held in the Eagles' hall, Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock. Officials of the organization today announced that plans for a membership drive will be made at the meeting and that an audit of the records will be given.

It was reported today that the work of obtaining easements on the WPA dam projects on the Whetstone river, sponsored by the group, is nearing completion. All of the easements on two of the dams have been obtained and 75 per cent on the remaining seven have also been signed.

Officials of the club announced that according to a communication received from the state department of conservation, it is unlawful to shoot ground hogs until after midnight of Aug. 1, 1936. Following a survey by the conservation council it was noted that the animals are in danger of depletion, throughout Ohio and it has been ruled unlawful to take or possess a ground hog until after Aug. 1, the communication said. Farmers may, however, kill ground hogs when they are doing actual damage on any day except Sunday, officials of the organization pointed out.

Answer Filed

William H. Schaffner, a defendant in the action of the Marion County bank against Harry A. Ammann and others, has filed an answer and cross petition in common pleas court, in which he seeks payment of a claim of $6,093 allegedly due on a judgment obtained against Mr. Ammann and Gertrude Ammann in 1933. The bank, in its petition filed several days ago, asks that 22 tracts of land in Marion be sold to satisfy its claim of $6,109.33. Mr. Schaffner is represented by Hayes Thompson.

Motions Filed

Marion Forney, defendant in damage actions brought by John O'Leary and Gertrude Platz, has filed motions in common pleas court asking that the plaintiffs be required to strike certain phrases from their petitions and that they also be required to make parts of their petitions more definite and certain. The plaintiff's suits, each for $10,000, grew out of an automobile accident last November. Marion Forney is represented by Guthery, Strellitz & Guthery.

MORGENTHAU CALLS FOR 2 MORE BILLIONS

Largest Peace Time Financing Divided Between New Loans, Debt Securities.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 1 — The treasury awaited today public response to Secretary Morgenthau's request for a loan of $2,050,754,400, largest in the nation's peace-time history.

The financing is divided about half and half between new cash borrowing and issuance of securities to cover maturing obligations.

Specifically, the treasury head offered $1,000,000,000 of securities for cash. They consist of $600,000,000 of 15-18 year bonds paying 2½ per cent interest, and $400,000,000 of 5-year notes bearing 1¼ per cent.

At the same time, he offered to exchange more of these bonds or notes for $888,616,400 of 1¼ per cent notes maturing June 15, and for $364,138,000 of 3¼ per cent notes maturing August 1.

The new money, together with the present cash balance of $2,389,000,000 and incoming revenues, is expected to meet all federal bills—including this month's soldiers' bonus payments—until the next financing period, Sept. 15.

STABILITY OF PLANT OPERATIONS CITED

Bank Points to Continued Production in Contrast to Usual Seasonal Drop.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., June 1—Operating rates of important industries in the fourth federal reserve district, the Cleveland Federal Reserve bank reported today, are showing a stability "in contrast with a seasonal decline which oftimes occurs."

The bank reported that "factory output in almost every important line has shown sizeable increases compared with a year ago" and pointed to the automobile and steel industries and to department stores sales in citing business stability.

April output of automobiles at "803,000 units exceeded any corresponding month on record except April, 1929, and reports for the first three weeks of May indicated that the month's total would closely approximate the April figure," the report said.

"Steel ingot production declined slightly in the second and third weeks of May, but it was chiefly seasonal. Weekly adjusted indices showed little change since the middle of April and operating rates compared very favorably with a year ago."

April department store sales increased 11.3 per cent over last year, the bank said, adding that reports for the first half of May indicated the volume was holding up well.

FORMER MARION GIRL ON PROGRAM

Lucretia Bair Plays With Major Bowes.

Marion residents who listened to Major Bowes' amateur hour program last night heard a former Marion girl, Lucretia Bair, 15, play a marimba solo. The last telephone bulletin read last night giving the number of votes by the amateurs listed 1,467 votes for her.

While she played, Major Bowes commented, "I never saw such complete nonchalance. If she were an actress, I'd say she was counting the house as she played." Later, he remarked she was "very self-possessed."

The girl is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burton W. Bair of Granite City, Ill., former residents of Marion. They moved from Marion six years ago.

PLANE HITS HOUSE IN FORCED LANDING

15 Aboard Escape With Minor Injuries After Mishap in Chicago.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, June 1—A pilot's skill was credited today with averting a tragic crash when a huge airliner, gliding down to a forced landing, plunged into a house and thudded into a narrow vacant lot on the south side.

The 15 persons on board the Transcontinental and Western Air Lines plane, nosing through the night at the end of a non-stop flight from New York, escaped death and serious injury. All were bruised and shaken. Six remained in a hospital.

The 12 passengers praised the maneuvering of Pilot W. L. Smith of Cranford, N. J., and the efforts of Stewardess Grace Davidson of Pittsburgh, who assisted some of her stunned charges from the cabin despite a painful cut on the head and a wrenched neck.

Pilot Smith told investigators later he was coming in for a landing at the airport when a "freak gust of wind" blew the tail around and caused the loss of 100 feet of altitude.

STEUBENVILLE STEEL EXECUTIVE STRICKEN

John C. Williams, Pioneer Manufacturer, Succumbs to Heart Attack.

By The Associated Press

STEUBENVILLE, O., June 1—John C. Williams, 60, president of the Weirton Steel Co., and a pioneer in modern steel operations in the industrial upper Ohio river valley, died today.

A heart attack caused Williams' death at 9 a. m. at his summer lodge in Weirton, W. Va., across the river from here. He resided in Steubenville.

Williams had been president of the Weirton Co., which he helped organize in 1905, for five years.

A native of Kidwelly, Wales, Williams got his start in the steel industry there and came to the United States in 1897.

He became superintendent of the Champion Iron & Steel Co. of Muskegon, Mich., but in 1903 and 1904 went with the National Steel Works at Monessen, Pa., as assistant superintendent.

A year later Williams and E. T. and E. M. Weir, brothers, founded the Phillips Sheet & Tin plate Co., and later purchased the plant of the Jackson Iron & Steel Works in Clarksburg, W. Va.

From that beginning, Williams and the Weir brothers expanded their interests throughout the upper Ohio valley. They later brought their holdings under the name of the Weirton Steel Co.

Formerly an iron works district, this industrial section became a leader in steel and sheet metal production.

PRESBYTERIANS ACT

SYRACUSE, N. Y., June 1—The 148th assembly of the Presbyterian church in the U. S. A. ordered disciplinary action today against a New York City acting elder for his participation on the independent board of foreign missions, a fundamentalist group.

ANNUAL MASONIC CEREMONIES HELD

Attorney General Bricker Speaks at Sunrise Memorial Service of Marion Lodge.

Approximately 400 members of Marion Lodge No. 70, F. and A. M., and visitors attended the annual Memorial day sunrise service sponsored by Marion lodge Saturday morning at the Masonic temple. Guests represented 24 lodges from four different states.

Attorney General John W. Bricker delivered a memorial address at the Harding tomb following the services and breakfast at the temple. He came to Marion to deliver the general Memorial day address Saturday afternoon.

Work in the master Mason degree was conferred on one candidate. This was followed by a memorial service honoring 18 members of Marion lodge whose deaths occurred during the last year, with Russell C. Snare, a past master, presiding.

Following the traditional breakfast of ham and eggs and strawberries, the lodgemen, headed by the Grotto band, marched to the Harding tomb where wreaths were placed from Warren G. Harding Lodge No. 250, Woodcliffe-on-Hudson, N. J., and Marion lodge. Attorney General Bricker paid tribute to the late President and talked on his association with Masonry.

MARION AND WALDO STUDENTS IN CLASS

Will Get Degrees from Capital University Tuesday, June 9.

Miss Starling Lewis of Marion and Paul Howard Long of Waldo will be among the students graduated from Capital university in Columbus at annual commencement exercises Tuesday, June 9, according to news reports from the university.

Miss Lewis will receive a certificate to teach in the elementary schools. Her mother, Mrs. Blanche Lewis of 426 Park street, will attend the commencement exercises.

Mr. Long is the son of Rev. and Mrs. S. C. Long of Waldo. He will receive a bachelor's degree. He was a member of the Capital university Leonard science club and a veteran of the basketball team, serving as honorary captain this year.

His father will pronounce invocation at the baccalaureate services at Columbus next Sunday night and with Mrs. Long will attend the commencement exercises the following Tuesday.

WAR WARNING HEARD IN FRENCH CHAMBER

Deputy Cites Armament Race at Opening of Session as More Strikes Loom.

By The Associated Press

PARIS, June 1—France's oldest deputy, Antoine Salles, 76, warned his colleagues today of war dangers as he opened the chamber session.

"Peace," said Salles, "never appeared more precarious or more in peril. Nations are feverishly preparing armaments.

"Throughout Europe sounds louder than the cries of millions of hungry and jobless, the sinister noise of factories forging diabolical machines intended to vomit fire and poison death on defenseless populations."

Former Premier Edouard Herriot announced himself as a candidate for the presidency of the chamber.

The pink-complexioned chamber of deputies convened in an atmosphere charged with fear of fresh "folded arms" strikes.

The prospective Socialist government of Leon Blum, expected to succeed Premier Albert Sarraut, faced the problem of adjusting the demands of workers whose primary request—a 40-hour week—it has already approved.

Sarraut probably will hand his cabinet's resignations to President Albert Lebrun Thursday.

TO BUILD HOUSE WITH PRIZE FUND

Winifred Wayne Van Etten (above), winner of the $10,000 Atlantic Monthly award for her novel, "I Am a Fox," said at her home in Mount Vernon, Ia., she will use a portion of the fund for a new house and will keep the rest as a "nest egg." She is the wife of an Iowa building contractor. (Associated Press Photo)

FORMER MARION RESIDENT DIES

Funeral of Mrs. Olive Jane Fling Held Today

Mrs. Olive Jane Fling, 64, of Toledo, a former Marion resident, died Friday night at her home there. She had been ill three years.

She was born in Marion and lived here until 20 years ago when she went to Logan. Later she moved to Mt. Sterling and afterward to Toledo.

Mrs. Fling was the daughter of Jacob B. Peters and Maria Ann Boyer, both of whom preceded her in death. She is survived by four children, Delmar, Devere, Carrole and Harold, all of Toledo.

Funeral services were held at 10:30 a. m. today at the Curtis funeral home with Rev. Harold B. Twining of Emmanuel Baptist church in charge. Burial was made in Canaan cemetery.

CHINA ARMY LEADER SEEKS TO HALT JAPS

Stronger Policy Announced but Nippon Continues To Solidify Her Hold.

By The Associated Press

SHANGHAI, June 1—Inspired by the valiant Great Wall defenders of 1933, Gen. Sung Cheh-Yuan, chairman of the Hopeh-Chahar military council, decided today to pursue a stronger policy against Japan's military expansion in north China.

Japan nevertheless, was taking steps to accommodate its ever-increasing troops in north China.

Peiping advices said new Japanese barracks were being rushed to constuction at Fengtai, 10 miles southwest of Peiping. They are to have a capacity of 800 soldiers.

This new military station was regarded as giving the Japanese virtual control over the strategic rail lines converging at Fengtai.

It was reported reliably that the Japanese also were building military outposts at Chung-Sientien, 20 miles southwest of Peiping, which would give Japan command of the Pinghan line.

BITTINGER'S SON LOSES IN COURT

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 1 — Judge Ben Pfefferle overruled a motion for a new trial today for Richie Bittinger, 24, of Mansfield, O., son of J. Frear Bittinger, speaker of the Ohio house of representatives. Young Bittinger was sentenced to 10 days in city prison May 27 after he pleaded guilty of driving while intoxicated. Three days later he was released on bond pending action of his motion for a new trial.

CONFEREES AGREE ON FLOOD CONTROL

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 1—Senate and house conferees reached agreements today on the $320,000,000 omnibus flood control bill and the $275,000,000 Overton measure to provide flood control works in the lower Mississippi basin.

Sen. Copeland, Democrat of New York, told reporters the agreement on the Overton measure was "complete" and that the one concerning the omnibus bill was a "practical agreement" which lacked the signatures of all the conferees.

Both bills call for contributions by state governments to meet land costs and damages incidental to the acquisition of properties for flood control projects.

COLUMBIA PROMOTES FORMER LOCAL MAN

W. Benjamin Fite Assumes Newly-Created Professorship in Mathematics.

Professor W. Benjamin Fite, former Marion resident, has been promoted by Columbia university to a new professorship in mathematics just established in memory of Charles Davies, who taught at Columbia during the Civil war, according to newspaper reports from New York City.

Professor Fite, now executive officer of the department of mathematics, will become Davies professor on July 1. He studied at Hillsdale college in Michigan and at Cornell, where he received the Ph. D. degree in 1901, remaining there until 1910 when he went to Columbia with the rank of professor.

He was in Marion several weeks ago to attend funeral services for his sister, Miss Mary Jeannette Fite. He is a brother of Emerson D. Fite, professor of political science at Vassar college, and John Jay Fite of Cleveland. All of them attended school in Marion.

SIX MEET DEATH IN WESTERN FLOOD

By The Associated Press

GRANADA, Colo., June 1—Subsiding floodwaters left six dead and one missing today in the dust-swept sector of three states where rain prayers were said just a fortnight ago.

Official estimates of property damage were lacking, but it was far less than in last year's Memorial day floods that killed more than 100 persons and caused losses of approximately $13,000,000 along the Republican river largely in southern Nebraska.

Smaller streams in southwestern Kansas and the Oklahoma panhandle left their banks with new rains yesterday after the Arkansas and Republican rivers started back to normal levels, but the greatest danger apparently had passed.

NEW COAL MEASURE GETS RIGHT OF WAY

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 1 — The rules committee today gave right of way to the house floor on the Guffey-Vinson coal control bill designed to replace the invalidated Guffey coal act.

Tentative plans of the house leadership call for consideration of the substitute measure on Wednesday.

Under the rule granted today, debate would be limited to two hours, evenly divided between proponents and opponents.

Postal Officials Prepare To Pay Vets' Bonus Here

Estimate 1,200 in County Will Receive $750,000 for Services in World War.

The day for the boys who wore [illegible] 1917-18 is a little more than two weeks away.

On Monday, June 15, approximately 3,500,000 registered letters, containing $50 adjusted service bonds and odd amount treasury certificates in full settlement of the soldiers' bonus, will be placed in the mails. In Marion county about 1,200 veterans will divide approximately $750,000.

Preliminary arrangements were made today by postoffice authorities here to insure speedy payment once they are in the waiting hands of the erstwhile soldiery. Details of the postoffice handling will be announced in the near future, Postmaster L. L. Lamborn said.

Mr. Lamborn and L. E. Cookston, assistant postmaster, attended a meeting at Bucyrus, Thursday to hear W. C. Lytle of Fort Wayne, Ind., postal inspector, explain the method of payment of the bonus bonds. The Marion postoffice was one of 57 in this district represented at the meeting.

Method of Payment.

Beginning June 16 the post office will be open from 7:30 a. m. to 10 p. m. daily. Veterans who desire to cash their bonds must sign the request for payment on the back of the bonds in the presence of a certifying officer at the postoffice. Certifying officers will be held responsible for positive identification of the person requesting payment as the one whose name appears on the face of the bond. If the veteran is personally known to the postmaster or designated employe witnesses are not necessary. If he is not known, one or two witnesses who know the veteran and who are known at the postoffice must sign the bond in the presence of the certifying officer. For the convenience of those making application for payment several well-known men from the veterans' organizations here will be stationed at the post office to identify them. This service is being organized by D. J. Finley, past commander of the local Veterans of Foreign Wars post. Names of those on duty at the post office will be published a few days before the bonds are mailed and if the applicant does not know anyone at the post office or any of the veterans on duty there he must bring identifying witnesses with him who are acquainted with the certifying officers.

20 Minutes Per Vet.

Postmaster Lamborn estimates it will take 20 minutes to care for one applicant. There will be about eight men on duty performing this service. The postoffice authorities do not expect more than five or six days will be required to handle most of the applications here. All vacation leaves at the postoffice are to be cancelled for a period after June 15. Clerk's vacations will be cancelled 30 days and carriers 15 days.

The packets of bonds addressed to Marion county will be mailed from Cleveland and the first batch will be delivered here on Tuesday, June 16. Since the bonds are coming by registered mail and the addressees must sign a receipt for the package another day or two may pass before all bonds are delivered. The postman is required to deliver the package to the addressee and he must definitely identify him before turning it over. No one at the veteran's home can receive the bonds for him and sign the receipt. If the veteran is not at home when the postman arrives someone at his residence should notify the postman when he will be home and the package will be delivered later or the veteran can call at the postoffice for it.

When the veteran receives his bond and makes application for payment on it at the postoffice he is given a receipt there and the bond is mailed to the regional disbursing office of the treasury department at Cleveland by postal authorities. Checks will be mailed immediately from there to the veterans and they may cash their checks at any bank. Veterans are requested not to cash checks at the post office as this proceoure would require that special funds be sent here for payment and delay would ensue.

Various estimates place the number of veterans who will apply for immediate payment of their bonds at between 60 and 90 per cent. The bonds may be cashed any time between June 15 and 1945, at which time they must be cashed. Although the bonds, if held, earn simple interest at the rate of three per cent a year, no interest is payable on any bonds redeemed prior to June 15 of next year.

There is no way to determine how many bonds will be cashed immediately or how many will be held to collect interest. The American Legion believes most of the bonus will be spent at once. Others have estimated that $130,000,000 of the $2,000,000,000 to be disbursed will go into small businesses, $275,000,000 for homes and farms, $105,000,000 for furniture and household goods, and $120,000,000 for automobiles. The maximum any veteran may draw is $1,580, and it is estimated 80 per cent of them already have borrowed up to the 50 per cent allowed by law. The national average will be about $500 a man.

Many veterans have protested about the "red tape" and elaborate precautions in connection with identification of the former soldiers in paying off the bonus. The Veterans' administration has explained that positive identification is necessary for the protection of recipients of the bonds. Any number of "rackets" are being organized to dupe the veterans out of their money and the government is exercising its fullest agencies to forestall such practices.

Veteran Radnor Postman Retires After 30 Years

Special to The Star

DELAWARE, O., June 1—Twelve horses and eight automobiles were the toll exacted by George N. Davis of west of Radnor in his 30 years as a mail carrier in Radnor community. Mr. Davis retired Saturday, having reached the retirement age of 65 the preceding Sunday.

From 1906, when he started, to 1914, Mr. Davis used 12 horses for transportation. He purchased his first automobile in 1914 and from that time until he retired he used eight automobiles.

Thirty years ago the veteran carrier's route was 24½ miles long, but when he made his last trip Friday he covered 41 miles. Mr. Davis taught school for 15 years before entering the mail service. He will now spend his time in farming.

Your Health

BY DR. R. S. COPELAND

Guard Mouth.

Needles, toys, pins, nails and safety pins were never made to enter the human stomach. Yet for them to do so is a common occurrence. As a rule this accident occurs in children, but adults are guilty of putting in the mouth things that never belong there.

Of course, this is an almost inexcusable accident. But in the face of frequent warnings, the swallowing of foreign bodies continues to occur with alarming frequency.

This is a dangerous accident, particularly if the object is small and has pointed edges. When a pin or a jagged object is swallowed it may tear and rupture the lining of the gullet, stomach or intestine. It may become lodged in the tissues and lead to a severe internal hemorrhage. At times, fortunately, objects may be swallowed without causing any harm or discomfort.

Instruments have been invented that make it possible for the physician to look into the throat, gullet or windpipe and even the stomach. By the use of these devices many lives have been spared and serious damage prevented by the safe removal of the offending substance.

Never place a pin or other object in your mouth. This is especially a bad thing for the mother to do, because it sets a bad example for the baby and young children. As you know, youngsters love to mimic their elders and if they see adults place pins and other objects in their mouths, they are almost sure to do the same thing.

The infant should never be allowed to play with objects so small that they can easily be swallowed. Pins, bones, marbles or small toys should never be permitted within reach of a young child. Other children should be taught that it is dangerous and unsanitary to put things in the mouth.

Often the mother notices that an object has disappeared and in the excitement is sure that the child has swallowed it. And, of course, merely because the child does not complain of pain is no sign that he has not swallowed the foreign body. To make sure whether or not it has been swallowed, an x-ray examination should be made. This will accurately determine the location and size, and the probability of it doing harm.

If the object is caught in the throat, delay in obtaining medical attention may prove serious.

Conventions That Made History

William Jennings Bryan Wins Nomination With Silver Tongue

* * *

When Republicans or Democrats get together to nominate a president, political fireworks usually result. This is the first in a series of three daily articles describing some of the most dramatic national conventions of the past.

* * *

By ALEXANDER R. GEORGE
Associated Press Writer.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—The ghosts of great convention figures of other years, led by the silver-tongued William Jennings Bryan, will march in many memories as the nation watches the making of new political history at Cleveland and Philadelphia.

Drama-packed conventions of both major parties have become almost commonplace but probably the No. 1 Thriller of all was a one-man performance—Bryan's capture of the Democratic presidential nomination at Chicago in 1896.

When the convention opened, young Bryan was given little or no consideration as a possible nominee. Representative Richard P. Bland of Missouri, farmer-leader of the silver forces, was rated the favorite candidate and Horace Boies of Iowa was figured a second choice.

A Bryan Stampede.

But on the fateful afternoon of July 9 "the boy orator of the Platte" marched to the platform and stampeded the delegates with a torrent of eloquent attack upon the gold standard, the Republican protective tariff and Wall street.

Twenty thousand listeners sat spellbound as that classic, final period fell from his lips: "You shall not press down upon the brow of labor this crown of thorns; you shall not crucify mankind upon a cross of gold."

"There was an instant hush," said a press description of the scene. "Then a storm burst whose fury seemed to sweep everything before it...Burly, black-bearded delegates wept."

The balloting began the next day, and on the fifth ballot Bryan received an overwhelming vote. At 36 the Great Commoner had become "the peerless leader of the plain people." By force of his eloquence alone he had won a presidential nomination.

Republicans Name McKinley.

Under the guidance of sagacious Mark Hanna, placid William McKinley of Ohio won the 1896 Republican presidential nomination, and became Bryan's opponent.

Silver Republicans bolted the Republican convention and some of them supported Bryan's candidacy. Gold Democrats threatened to put a third ticket in the race, many of them abstained from voting in the election and some supported McKinley.

The voters of today may notice a familiar tone in the charges and counter-charges of 40 years ago. Senator "Pitchfork Ben" Tillman of South Carolina lambasted the industrial east and "money barons;" conservative Democratic newspapers in New York called Tillman "a communist and an anarchist." New York labor leaders, backing Bryan, said it was "a fight of the rich against the poor."

It was the "bicycle age" in America, and a national organization of wheelmen asked the Democrats to put a good roads plank in their platform. Competing with the presidential race for popular attention in the big cities was the battle between the Baltimore Orioles and the New York Giants for the National league pennant.

EDISON CLASS GIVES PROGRAM

Juniors Bid Formal Farewell to Junior High School.

The junior class of the Thomas A. Edison Junior High school bade farewell to the school in a program given Friday afternoon in the school auditorium. Approximately 100 parents and friends were in the audience to honor the 65 pupils who will complete their high school education next year at Harding High school.

Blue and silver, the class colors, were used to decorate the auditorium and stage. In the center of the stage was a large frame representing a book, decorated with two silhouettes, and used during the presentation of the class history.

The juniors, dressed in white, marched into the auditorium each wearing a class rose. The officers, Russell Arthur, president, Donald Quigley, vice president, Robert McCombs, secretary, and Helen Jones, treasurer, were seated on the stage. The class president gave the opening address, which he concluded with Kipling's "Recessional." Group singing of "Praise for Peace," was led by L. G. Jones, public school music supervisor.

The class history was told in scenes reproduced from class activities, and shown as Billy Burgener turned the pages of the large "book." Betty Zahn was the narrator. Scenes were shown from the operetta, "Miss Cherry Blossom," which was given two years ago, and from the 1936 class play, "New Fires." James Hickman sang "Requiem," which won him first place in the 1935 school elsteddfod, a chorus sang a selection from the operetta, "In Old Louisiana," which was given last year and Helen McWilliams sang "You'll Never Believe Me," from "The Follies of 1935."

Preceding the class prophecy Miss Bernita LeMasters sang "My Task," by Bond. The prophecy was presented in the form of a class reunion in 1946, with poetry, a round-robbin letter and crystal gazer for entertainment. Donald Quigley, Harold Stafford, Robert Shively and Ruth Smart were active participants in presenting the prophecy. A junior class girls' quartet composed of Helen McWilliams, Meldine Moore, June Augenstein and Betty Zahn, sang "Sweet and Low."

A courtroom scene was enacted for the presentation of the class will, with Kenneth Williamson presiding as judge and reading the will. Six sophomores, including the class president, Glen Wintermute, received the will.

In the closing of the program C. A. Hudson, superintendent, gave a brief talk and presented scholarship certificates to Helen Knight, Helen McWilliams, Margaret Watt, Mary Eddington and Russell Arthur, who maintained a high scholarship standing during the sophomore and junior years. A challenge from the junior class president in his farewell was accepted by the sophomore president. The entire junior class assembled on the stage and sang "Farewell to Edison," after which there was a recessional march to music by a brass ensemble.

VETS' AUXILIARIES HOLD JOINT MEET

The auxiliary to Dyer J. Bird chapter, Ohio Rainbow Veterans, were guests of members of the Women's auxiliary to Chapter No. 32, Disabled American Veterans, Thursday night at the armory. The guests were welcomed by the commander, Miss Anna Marie Lawrence and a program was in charge of Mrs. Minnie Bowen, social chairman.

Mrs. L. M. Eikenbary and Mrs. Lucille Edington sang two duets, accompanied by Mrs. Esther Koeppen. Readings were given by Ruth Bowen and Varian Harraman. Howard and Dorothy Stephenson played two piano and violin numbers, and Miriam Cowan and Elmer Steiger Jr., entertained with tap dance and voice numbers. Claire Koeppen gave a reading and an Irish sketch was given by Mrs. Lucille Edington.

Contest awards were won by Varian Harraman, Miriam Cowan and Mrs Margaret Foreman. Officers will be installed at a meeting June 11.

The Silver Street boys' relay team of Harold Miller, Lawrence Cochrel, Virgil Blair and Willard Miller finished first. Glenwood's relay team composed of Junior Hunt, Jack Higgins, Samuel Mullens, Charles Collins, was second, and the Oak Street entry composed of Lowell Loyer, Richard Kirk, Lester Galloway and Leroy Harvery was third.

St. Mary School Pupils in Ceremony At Church

Miss Irvin, dressed in white silk net, was attended by Martha Bianchi, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bianchi of 293 North Prospect street, dressed in white lace. Both girls wore white veils, an innovation in the May procession ceremony.

Two hundred and fifty boys and girls from the eighth grade through the senior year, marched in the procession. The senior girls were in white caps and gowns and the senior boys in gray caps and gowns. All of the other high school pupils were in the Virgin's colors of blue and white, and the junior high school pupils were in tan uniforms.

Roses carried by those in the procession were placed in baskets which were set on the Virgin's altar. Rev. Father Edward H. Summe, assistant pastor, gave the sermon on the Blessed Virgin, after which the rite of benediction was conducted by Rev. Father William J. Spickerman, pastor, Father Summe, and Rev. Father Mollman of Marysville.

The annual senior class breakfast, given by the junior class, will be served next Sunday morning at 8 o'clock following a high mass and communion at 8.

Annual commencement exercises will be conducted on Sunday afternoon at 4 p. m. at St. Mary Catholic church. The senior girls were guests at a tea on May 22 at Mount St. Joseph-on-the-Ohio near Cincinnati.

MAY PARTY HELD BY YOUTH COUNCIL

With a membership goal of 100 attained, the Youth Temperance Council gave a May day party and covered dish supper Friday night at the Y. M. C. A. New members greeted were Misses Dorothy Angles, Norma Finch, Ruth Zechman, Esther Solanders, Georgia Wetzel, Doris Brading, Joan Burns and Bonnivere Burns and Bernard Brooks.

Rev. Harry G. Deeds of the Greenwood Evangelical church presented a study course from the lesson book, "Alcohol in Experiences and Experiment." MARION STUDENT WILL GET DEGREE

John W. Walters, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed C. Walters of 1133 East Center street, is among 398 men who will receive bachelor's degrees at the ninety-second commencement exercises of the University of Notre Dame next Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Walters plan to attend the commencement exercises. Their son will return to Marion for the summer and again take up studies at Notre Dame next fall to seek a law degree next year.

CITY BRIEFS

Missionary Program—Mrs. O. T. Swigart will be in charge of a program for a monthly meeting of the Woman's society of the Trinity Baptist church on Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the church. The June meeting will be held on Wednesday instead of Thursday, because of the Harding High school class day program Thursday afternoon.

Stolen Car Found—A car belonging to George Snare of 264 Flea avenue, reported taken from the city parking lot between 5:45 and 11:30 p. m., yesterday was found by police early today at the rear of the Marion building, on South Main street.

Bicycle Recovered—A bicycle belonging to E. V. McDaniel of 248 South Seffner avenue, and reported taken from near Grand and Center streets about 5:30 p. m., Friday, was found several hours later by police.

Reports Theft—A radiator cap was taken from a car owned by Stewart Jones of 487 Pearl street, Sunday about 9:15 p. m., while it was parked near 177 Chicago avenue, according to a report to police.

Wins O. S. U. Honor — Hyp J. Dauben Jr. of Upper Arlington, Columbus, grandson of Mrs. O. L. him he had not arrived at his office. Zioncheck walked out, got in his car which was parked on the wrong side of the street, and drove off.

Meanwhile quiet prevailed at the Zioncheck apartment after a week-end of encounters with police.

His bride of 30 days was still away, however, with no one making public her exact whereabouts. Lucius C. O. Lamara, Zioncheck's attorney, said she was staying with friends.

Asked if the congressman knew Mrs. Zioncheck's whereabouts Lamar said he was not sure that he did.

The Washington representative returned to his apartment early last night after what he said was a day spent looking for Mrs. Zioncheck. She left the apartment Saturday.

Mrs. Benjamin S. Young—who sub-let the apartment to Zioncheck last December only to return 10 days ago and charge her furniture had been damaged—was confined in a hospital.

Declaring she was forcibly evicted from the apartment which she sought to occupy with the Zionchecks, Mrs. Young charged the congressman and his bride were responsible.

The congressman indicated that he would forfeit a $25 bond posted Saturday night when he was arrested for disorderly conduct.

DELEGATES LEAVE FOR U. S. MEETING

Walter Menninger of 836 Mt. Vernon avenue and Marion McKeever of 656 Oak street, left early today to attend the national convention of the Junior Chamber of Commerce in Memphis, Tenn., June 3-4-5-6. They are delegates of the Marion Junior Chamber of Commerce and are attending as alternates replacing R. N. Heininger of 451 Elmwood Drive and James Lytle of 528 Bellefontaine avenue.

Church Programs Honor High School Graduates

Graduates of Harding High school and of schools in the vicinity of Marion were honored by the Marion churches of which they are members in services yesterday. Churches in which graduates were honored were Emanuel Lutheran, Trinity Baptist, Prospect Street M. E., Wesley M. E., Forest Lawn Presbyterian, the Oakland Evangelical and the First United Brethren.

Thirty-two young people of the Trinity church were honored, and a rose was presented each. Rev. Lawrence A. Wood, pastor, spoke on "Four Rules of Life," and Mrs. David Somerlot sang. The service was conducted in the Sunday school hour.

Virginia Jackson, Evelyn Converse, Goldie Ann Williams, Iacal Cook, Geneva Peak, Donald Mosher, Harry Pelfer and Robert Valentine were honored at the Forest Lawn church. They sat together and their parents and relatives sat immediately behind them. Each was presented a red rose and a reception in their honor followed the service. Rev. J. A. Carriker, pastor, delivered a sermon on "God's Purpose for Your Life." Mrs. C. L. Mildam sang "Remember Now Thy Creator."

Pastors Give Talks

Roses were presented the graduates of the First United Brethren church at the Sunday school hour. The young people of Wesley church each received a New Testament. Rev. Stanley W. Want, pastor, spoke on "Youth Undefeated."

Rev. Henry Maag of the Prospect Street church spoke particularly to the graduates in his sermon on "The Greatest Asset."

A rose and a daily prayer book were presented each of the Emanuel Lutheran church graduates. Carl Campbell, superintendent of the Sunday school, presented the prayer books. William Ackerman and Herman P. Watson sang "Spirit Divine."

Rev. J. W. Schillinger, pastor, in his sermon to the young people on "Doing Great Things for God," spoke in part as follows: "God is calling for you to do great things for him....For some of you it will be in the church, for others in the state, for others in the school. You must pray earnestly for His guidance; He will not fail you; He will show you the way. When your place has been assigned you, you must enter it and serve Him with all your strength. Every service which you render faithfully because you seek the glory of God is great in His sight.

"All of you must serve Him by doing everything in your power to promote and extend His kingdom....You must do your part in helping to spread the saving Gospel of Jesus to the ends of the world. The Christian home is the pillar of church and state and of everything good in human society. The greatest service that you can render to your church, to your nation and to all human society is to do your utmost to uphold and preserve the Christian home.

"In order to do great things for God you must recognize that you can not accomplish anything by your own wisdom and strength. God gives you His holy spirit to strengthen you....You must receive His Spirit with prayerful hearts and then in the great power of the Spirit proceed to do great things for God."

Emanuel Honor List

Emanuel young people honored were: Mary Kathryn Albelt, Marguerite Barkley, Ralph Barkley, Helen Bernauer, Betty Clagett, Pauline Cosgrove, Josephine Craven, Esther Cast, Verna Mae Gaston, Virginia Gilbert, Gladys Hinamon, Gerald Jennings, Neil Long, Lowell Milton, Perry Roark, Carl Schaadt, Zella Mae Willoughby and Robert Hinamon of Harding High school, and Ruth Frayer of the Claridon High school.

FIRE RAZES GARAGE AT 186 STARK COURT

Blaze Thought To Have Started in Rubbish Pile in Unused Stall.

Damage estimated at approximately $700 resulted when fire Friday afternoon destroyed a three-stall garage and consumed part of an outside wall at the home of Frank W. Wipfler at 186 Stark court. The fire, which was thought to have started in rubbish collected in an unused portion of the garage, was reported at 4:06 p. m., as an automobile fire. The chief's car from the central station answered the alarm, and additional equipment was called when firemen arrived to find the garage a mass of flames.

A car, stored in the building at the time the fire broke out, was shoved from the garage. The loss was covered by insurance. Firemen answered two other minor alarms over the week-end. At 10:53 p. m., Friday, a blaze in an automobile owned by Ernest Daum of 450 Park street, and parked at 175 East Center street, was extinguished by firemen who answered the call in the chief's car. The fire was when a flooded carburetor was noted, caused about $15 [illegible]. Ultimatum

Soberly in orderly organized labor in the United States is closing in for a climactic battle. It is impossible at this time to put one spot, for anyone to cover the whole range of action.

The main course of the battle can be followed however. By any standard of measurement a major move was disclosed in the announcement by William Green president of the American Federation of Labor that an ultimatum to disband had been sent to the industrial union group headed by John L. Lewis president of United Mine Workers.

Mr. Lewis has challenged Mr. Green's position and beliefs. In effect he has defied Mr. Green and his group to retain control of the bulk of organized labor's force in the United States. It is an exciting situation made doubly so by the encouragement which politicians have given to labor organization.

The winner has a chance to hold great power. It is an interesting commentary on the labor situation that both Mr. Lewis and Mr. Green but Mr. Lewis especially usually are thought of as individual contestants. The policies which they advocate may be indorsed more widely by their followers however than is apparent.

It is further significant that almost no one seems to think Mr. Green will finish as winner in any engagement he may have with Mr. Lewis. Apparently the industrial unionists already have established the supremacy of their idea they are ready now to deal with hard facts. In view of the odds against his side Mr. Green's ultimatum which expires June 3 is a conspicuous act of bravery.

Sandbagged

Harry L. Hopkins WPA administrator may be stating the truth to the best of his knowledge when he declares no one in PWA has lost his job or will lose his job because he failed to contribute to any political party. Sen. Rush D. Holt West Virginia Democrat consistent critic of the relief setup, immediately counters that he has lost jobs plenty of them because of his attitude toward WPA. In fact he asserts he has been stripped of all federal patronage because of his belligerency toward a sacred cow of the administration.

Since Sen. Holt says he knew in advance he would be sandbagged for his attacks but insisted upon talking and voting for his beliefs curious persons may be moved to wonder what manner of man this baby senator is.

Taking his statements at their face value one would conclude that this young man possesses courage idealism and rashness. Convinced, apparently that WPA is honeycombed with abuses he has disregarded party lines and dared to attack the administration of relief feeling reasonably sure he will get no medals for so doing. The senator is young enough to hold ideals.

On the other hand realism suggests it is just possible that Sen. Holt is smart enough to realize that, having crashed in to the upper house at an unusually tender age he must do something if he is to consolidate his position. Opposition against his own party on a major issue might be just the thing. It will be interesting to see how the energetic West Virginian bears up during his first six years in the political hot house. It's barely possible he has chosen a hobby which will carry him far and well on his political journeys.

Was He Schizoid?

Fortunately for justice alienists for the defense were not able to save John Fiorenza from being convicted for the murder of Mrs. Nancy Evans Titterton—for which crime he is likely to be executed. But a detached observer would be justified in believing that the conflict of the experts defense and prosecution alienists didn't enhance public faith in the future of psychiatry as a prophetic science.

The detached observer might be a fanatic on the subject and still hold that psychiatrists have a large contribution to make toward social welfare but he will have to admit they bog down when they throw phrases at each other across the court room.

For instance Dr. J. L. McCartney former psychiatrist at Elmira reformatory testified for the defense that he examined Fiorenza in 1933 and found him narcissistic suffering from oedipus complex and definitely schizoid. Dr. A. L. Crane another defense psychiatrist added his penny worth when he declared Fiorenza was suffering from dementia praecox simple type with some schizophrenia features.

All these bewildering phrases when translated into plain terms, indicate a state of mental backwardness and subnormalcy. They are terms of the jargon of the psychiatrist who has a legitimate function to perform in society. Unfortunately, when bandied about in court, they are designed to confuse juries and to draw sympathy to the accused.

Green of Ohio who was sane enough to hold down a job and to attempt to cover up his crime after he murdered probably is morally culpable for as surely as if he had struck with a criminal psychotic—assuming the stretch the meaning of words to the breaking point and help to convince the average man the psychiatrists themselves should be psychoanalyzed.

Recess

As residents of Washington who do not care to go to Europe prepare to go to the front for the summer the supreme court of the United States quietly recesses for four months. Its docket is clear.

Members of the court are fully aware of course that they will be an issue in the president al campaign. They realize that the sitting which will come to a conclusion today has been one of the most important in the nation's history.

The court members know also that death may strike down one or more of them in the near future. Though no one openly wishes for the opportunity to replace one of the conservatives with a liberal the fact that so much solicitude is felt for their health tells the justices what some of their countrymen are thinking.

Fortunately the supreme court despite its great importance does not stand in the spotlight of political interest. Its members live and work quietly. What they say as judges may make history but what they speak and do as individuals does not make even newspaper headlines. It is a fortunate situation.

Otherwise the country might learn to think more of the court's members than of the court. No reasonable person claims perfection for the supreme court. Yet every thoughtful person who is not a blind zealot of the new deal whatever it is must grant that the court has been a stabilizing influence during the last few unbalanced years. It is being opposed only by those who are not interested in stabilizing influences.

While best wishes for pleasant vacations are in order the country shouldn't forget the supreme court justices who have reached the end of an especially trying session and are looking forward to temporary relief from the strain of trying to decide what is right after other men have decided what is expedient.

Amazing Situation Behind Scenes

Administration Asks Another Huge Tax Bill Yet Only Few Senators Inquire What It Is All About.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

(Copyright, 1936, by The Marion Star)

WASHINGTON, June 1.—The average citizen took time to follow closely what his representatives in congress are doing today he would feel compelled to inquire pertinently just what is going on behind the scenes in perhaps the most amazing situation that has ever confronted the United States as it.

On the surface the senate is considering a tax bill on which there are naturally differences of opinion. Nobody likes taxation and therefore it isn't unusual to have opposition to various revenue-raising devices. But what is extraordinary and unparalleled is that only a few members of the senate—just a handful—seem to care to find out just what is going to be done with the money or what has been done with what has heretofore been authorized.

To support the foregoing comment one has only to read a statement read to the United States senate by Senator Harry Byrd of Virginia a Democrat who before coming to Washington was one of the most successful administrators that the state of Virginia has ever had in the governor's office.

* * *

I am astonished to discover says Mr. Byrd that the administration proposes to spend $600,000,000 more for ordinary expenses and for relief in the fiscal year beginning July 1 next than for the present fiscal year. With improving conditions I and nearly all other citizens expected a reduction in the colossal spending program.

Then Mr. Byrd proceeds to give the official figures which he had elicited by letter from the director of the budget D. W. Bell and which as Senator Byrd points out show that there will be a deficit for this fiscal year ending June 30 next of nearly $8,000,000,000 or about $3,700,000,000 without the soldier bonus. Last year the deficit on June 30 was $3,575,000,000 so the deficits are going up instead of down entirely apart from the bonus. Yet recovery is supposed to be here or on its way.

What is more striking however in the opinion of Senator Byrd is that on May 1 there was not expended from previous authorizations some $2,480,000,000 and of this amount $750,000,000 was not obligated and yet congress is being asked to pass another heavy relief bill notwithstanding the balances on hand.

What is bound to cause much surprise also is Senator Byrd's further observation.

In 1937 we will collect in taxes $1,600,000,000 more than in 1930 and still the deficit continues in an alarming amount.

* * *

Mr. Byrd took from the budget director's letter the estimates of expected receipts and expenditures. The receipts for instance are predicted at $5,506,917,050 which is larger than any year since 1933 and much larger than most years prior to 1933.

As for the expenditures the next year's estimate is $8,272,584,370 which is larger than the years 1933 1934 and 1935 but not as large as 1936 because $2,237,000,000 of bonds is included in 1936. But Senator Byrd calls attention to the fact that the proposed expenditure of $8,272,584,370 in the next fiscal year does not include the flood control bill and other appropriations recently enacted.

Thus we have a rising curve of receipts a rising curve of expenditures and deficits that continue above $3,000,000,000 a year making the public debt of the federal government higher than it ever has been in history—it is $32,000,000,000 already. All this is exclusive of the state and city debt which is in the neighborhood of $20,000,000,000 so the United States now has a governmental debt of one kind or another that exceeds $50,000,000,000.

Since debt can only be paid out of receipts from taxes or borrowings out of the savings of the American people the test at this session of congress has been whether taxes could be materially increased. Taxes are close to the saturation point already—that is they are approaching the point where the cost of food and necessities of life may soon reflect the higher taxes and cause a curtailment of consumption and hence more unemployment.

* * *

What is the answer? If there is no further tax money? The unsound route is printing press money which breaks down faith in all money—this is not desired or countenanced by any responsible leader of the administration or by its opposition. The alternative remaining is to prune expenses.

Senator Byrd himself wants that solution. For he suggests a reduction in spending equivalent to the new revenue anticipated. He wants the 1937 appropriations to be cut to the basis of 1936 and the tax bill can await a more matured consideration at the 1937 session and the deficit will not be increased.

But the truth is this is election year. The Democratic administration does not dare to cut expenses now in the face of the November elections. When the elections are over—no matter which way they go—there will be considerable use of the pruning knife and plenty of protests and clamor as pet projects are lopped off. Meanwhile members of the United States senate accepting dictation from the White House refrain from insisting on a cutting down of expense and the opposition party is presented with a campaign issue of more importance than all the new deal social objectives. For it will be asked of what avail are the social objectives if the credit of the government is impaired? President Roosevelt's statement to congress March 10 1933 will be quoted against him again and again. For I will be recalled that he said:

"For three long years the federal government has been on the road toward bankruptcy. Thus we shall have piled up an accumulated deficit of $5,000,000,000. Upon the unimpaired credit of the United States government rest the safety of deposits, the security of insurance policies, the activity of industrial enterprises, the value of agricultural products and the availability of employment.

Too often in recent history liberal governments have been wrecked on rocks of loose fiscal policy. We must avoid this."

Senator Byrd Democrat has stood up in the senate to try to avoid it. The next few days will show how many members of the senate will join him or take a chance that the electorate will not take enough interest to express its objections.

Behind the News

Men and Affairs Under The Washington Spotlight

BY JAMES MALLON

WASHINGTON, June 1.—Some deep inside trouble has developed about where Sir Charles D. Hilles is going to be permitted to sit on the Landon band wagon. Six months ago he was supposed to hold a ticket for the front row. Now it appears he may be invited to hang onto the spare tire or told to get out and walk.

It will be a long time before the full story is told but some of the things which happened are these.

Mr. Hilles had some very definite ideas about appointments to the Republican national committee campaign staff a few weeks back. Gov. Landon's campaign manager John Hamilton had some equally definite but entirely opposite ideas. Mr. Hamilton won and Mr. Hilles many friends immediately developed an aversion to Mr. Hamilton.

What irks them most is the chance that a Landon nomination will mean that they will have to put up with Mr. Hamilton as chairman of the Republican national committee for four years even if Landon loses the election and where (they ask you) will that leave Mr. Hilles in the party organization?

Whos Taking Whom?

The Hamilton-Hilles estrangement might easily mean something serious to the Landon candidacy but

A poll of Mr. Hilles New York state delegation is said to show 38 votes (out of the 90) are going to be cast for Landon no matter what Mr. Hilles does.

An apparently accurate line on the situation of Mr. Hilles leading ally Mr. Roraback of Connecticut indicates that most of those nine teen votes want Landon and intend to have him.

Equally discouraging (to Mr. Hilles) must be the fact that in Friend Pomeroy's New Jersey there are 32 open Landon votes. In Friend Hallahan's West Virginia there was a primary expression for Landon. In Friend Creager's Texas there is said to be stubborn Landon sentiment.

Thus the delicate question arises as to whether Mr. Hilles will finally take Landon or whether Mr. Hamilton has already taken Mr. Hilles.

It is an important point what with Senator Borah raising the highly popular issue against old guard leadership.

Two recent public developments are being traced by some Republican insiders back to the Hilles-Hamilton disaffection. One is the effort to stir up a boom for Ex-Gov. Lowden of Illinois and the other a movement to keep Hamilton from getting the national chairmanship even if Landon wins the nomination.

Sprout

A group of President Roosevelt's high officials was assembled at the White House some time back to talk about the unemployment situation. The talk was very serious. No one had any striking new ideas of what to do about the 11,000,000 or 12,000,000 people out of work until a prominent member of the cabinet arose and solemnly said something like this:

Gentlemen I think I have something for you I believe we can cure the situation. I was noticing my gardener at work the other day and the thought struck me. Why do we not have everyone employ a gardener and thus absorb the unemployed."

No one took the trouble to ask him. With what? He was floored with silence.

Bestirring

The Arab revolt in Palestine is the price Britain had to pay for attempting to check Italian conquest of Ethiopia. It is Il Duce's answer. Of course Rome will deny it but diplomats here have heard from creditable sources that anti-British propaganda was broadcast to Palestine by Italian radio stations and attracted wide attention. The broadcasts were significantly in Arabic not Italian.

Il Duce resorted to the same tactics in Egypt at the height of the Italo-British tension in the Mediterranean. London is convinced that Italian radio broadcasts at that time were responsible for the Egyptian nationalist uprising which is still smouldering.

Such things do not make war more remote.

Lowden

The Lowden movement has really gone much further than is publicly known. It has been confined to the delegates who will be at Cleveland and for that reason has not attracted much general attention.

However a survey of delegates has been made purporting to show that Lowden can be nominated on the third ballot. The movement is virtually sure to furnish some fireworks at the convention but no one really expects Lowden to be nominated. For one thing he is 75 years old. His health would not permit him to indulge in a warm campaign.

Lost

A news man here insists that he tried for hours to get a copy of the 1932 Democratic platform for reference purpose but the various Democratic organizations did not have them in stock. Finally he located one where he least expected to find it—at the headquarters of the American Liberty League. The league apparently has made 200 photostatic copies for its own purposes.

O. O. McIntyre's Diary of Fact Fancy and Folks

NEW YORK June 1—In the manner of Arnold Bennett's journal. At breakfast M. and I were discussing how an invalid so often dominates a household of healthy people. And I recalled how Diego Rivera Mexican painter plucked ants from plants at Theodore Dreiser's and ate them. And she swished from the table.

A letter from Governor Park recently asked me along with other Missourians to attend the Spring festival at Excelsior Springs. Which recalls an experience at that pleasant resort years ago. My father had taken me there while he attended some political powwow.

I was sitting on one of the hotel verandahs and an elderly gentleman in the next chair was dozing. Awakening suddenly he exclaimed: "There's a disaster somewhere."

Next morning's papers told of the destructive cyclone that had struck St. Louis that same hour.

The Boston fire department sends a gold plated badge embossed with my name. It entitles me I presume to gallop right up and help unwind the hose. One of my dreams has been coming down the ladder with a sleeping princess. Just as a flaming tower reels against the sky.

My friend Frank Vance has been laid up most of the winter with stone bruises. He calls them Roosevelt gout. From Tahiti this scrawl in the morning post. I'm doing a little beach combing number out here in a setting of corals and palm. Left Frisco with $800 and most of it has gone for cognac. This hen track scribble is because you know my writing. I want to be forgotten. We were wishing at the movies we could play the piano like movie actors. Hands hidden and never look down at the keyboards. Also flute playing with no fingering of strings.

Katharine Brush has been in a dither over a lady resembling her somewhat crashing parties and proclaiming herself. Kay Brush. The imposter's relaxing metier is the fine head which brings on much alcoholic braggadocio. Miss Brush is a shy silken voiced lady inclined to blush at the compliment and one who never discusses her literary work. There was once a spurious George Ade who cut a swath through the South. Other children should follow. Shirley Temple and wear porcelain teeth when incisors fall out.

Mary Rogers Will and Betty's daughter on her way to Maine today for more experience in stock. An earnest talented lady who is going far. So far as I know the only word that has three sets of doubled letters together is bookkeeping. That's what cryptography does for you. Genevra Nash painted a portrait of Mussolini before she came over. In cannibal costume standing by a window looking pert. I wonder what Il Duce would think of that one. It is in her studio in Washington Square. Jimmy Walker seems back in his old form—doing the lunches and dinners making speeches and royally welcomed. New York!

I heard Gelett Burgess declare over the radio that city folk didn't know how to kill a skunk. He says every country boy knows you can stone them to death if you work quickly. When they're angry or frightened they are defenseless. I killed one once that was evidently neither angry nor frightened. Notations on a desk pad of several people I want to meet. John P. Marquard. Di Maggio the diamond's new sensation and Rose Wilder Lane. Harry Richman has discovered an expert whittler out in Chicago and sends me an intricate sample of his handiwork. There should be a whittling renaissance. It's the most absorbing of all concentrations. The confirmed whittler is never a worrier. And if I read the signs aright there's a heap of worrying going on about the world. Heaps and heaps!

1,400 Hear Senior Sermon At Epworth M.E. Church

The Need of Religion in the Life of Today," Rev. J. O. Dodd's Subject Before Class.

God has not given us a spirit of fear, but a spirit of inner, spiritual power, of love, a sound mind through the discipline and sacrifice of self-sacrifice," Rev. J. O. Dodd of the Central Congregational church told approximately 1,400 persons, including more than 300 Harding High school seniors, at the annual high school commencement service yesterday afternoon at the Epworth M. E. church.

Rev. Dodd gave a 40-minute talk on "The Need of Religion in the Life of Today," and in opening expressed responsibility for what he was to say to "a group of young people facing, we know not what."

He cited Paul's letter to Timothy that was starting out "to face a world like that we have to face today—people and personalities have not changed much in 2,000 years.

"Perhaps the religion we observe today is the religion that has been encrusted with centuries of unreasonable thinking and social approach," he said.

Future Is Unknown

"I do not know what lies before you," he said, "but I do know this: that you are going to meet the temptations of life; that you are going to find men and women in society are not what they should be; you will wrestle with problems that seem unsolvable from an intellectual approach."

Pointing to the Christ-life of self-sacrifice, he said: "When we get to living in self-sacrifice we find God is not giving us a spirit of fear, but of power. In the Christian attitude is power and resource."

Suicides of college students, "crack-ups" mentally and physically of business men are caused by a lack of adequate resources to face life, he said.

"Not only has God given us power, but He has given us love—I don't speak of the soft sentimental something people find when they 'kitten up' on a davenport—but of love with something of the intellectual such as Jesus manifested, that drove Him to the Cross," Rev. Dodd continued. "Most of us as we face life today may find it bitter; you may find it is bitter because you cannot have your own way; you may find it is bitter because things do not always go to suit you; but on the other hand, there is that love that expresses itself in self-sacrifice, and through that is life made sweet."

"If you can experience love as Jesus spoke of it you are going to have one of the secrets of success in sane living," the speaker advised.

"I might call you sinners," he said, speaking directly to his young audience, "for I have seen some of the things you do, but there is another word for sin: mental sickness. When you talk of things we used to call sin, let us view it from the psychological viewpoint, not sin, but mental sickness."

Rev. Dodd spoke of the emasculating of religion by science 20 years ago, the teaching of evolution over a period of millions of years rather than the Biblical account of creation, mentioned the psychology of Freud, that religion is an "escape mechanism," and touched on his own college experiences and his first meeting with the teachings of science. "Since then I have found a faith which enables me to believe with an idea of power, love and sound mind—not fact built on creed, on a church, in a book, but fact in a Personality, a Man willing to die because of love of His fellowman," he said.

In closing, he mentioned the book, "The Return to Religion," written by Dr. Henry C. Link, director of the Psychological Service Center in New York City, and said: "Great psychologists today have brought forth this fact; that personality is not a matter of educational pursuits of a person, but is the vital relation between human beings."

"We are swinging back to the disciplinary," he said, "driven back because of laboratory experiments."

Harding's Largest Class

The large congregation stood while the largest class ever to leave Harding High school marched into the auditorium to the music of Costa's "Triumphal March," played by Miss Maye Evangeline Lawrence, church organist, who had played a half-hour program of selections by Guilmant, Yon, Friml and Rink.

Rev. Franklin G. Markley, pastor of Epworth church, gave the invocation, Rev. James M. Fisher, Presbyterian minister, read the scripture lesson from Mark 8:31-9:1, and Rev. Stanley W. Wiant of the Wesley M. E. church gave the pastoral prayer.

The high school mixed choir of which approximately 40 will be graduated Friday night, sang two selections, "Vesper Hymn," by Fisher, and "Nunc Dimittis," by Arkangelsky-Cain, both sung a capella under the direction of L. G. Jones, public school music supervisor.

Following a hymn by the congregation and the benedicition by Rev. Markley, the class marched out of the auditorium, to the music of a march by Clark.

DELAWARE GOLF COURSE TO CLOSE

Special to The Star

DELAWARE, O., June 1 — The Odevene golf course which a few years ago was recognized as one of the finest nine hole courses in central Ohio, is doomed to grow into a hay field, according to action taken by the Ohio Wesleyan university trustees to halt reconstruction proceedings. For eight or nine years the course prospered but last year the membership dwindled to such a small number that the Country club found it impossible to maintain the course and it reverted to the college. The course is constructed on college-owned property. Officers of the Odevene country club have indicated that immediate liquidation proceedings will be taken to dispose of the equipment owned by the club.

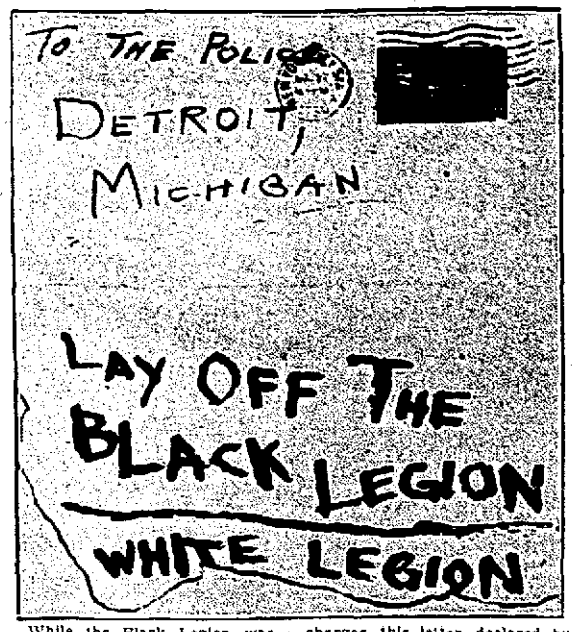
POLICE GET LETTER IN BLOOD



While the Black Legion was declared by officials in Detroit to be on the run since the campaign of extermination against the hooded organization began a week ago with arrest of 13 men on kidnaping and murder charges, this letter, declared by Richard Bowen of the police laboratories, to be written in human blood was received by the police department. It was postmarked in New York with letters a half-inch high. (Associated Press Photo)

SYNOPSIS: Although Dirk has definitely not solved the mystery surrounding Hope Devine, who appeared one night at the old Joris estate and in an hour married Rupert Joris, Dirk's older brother—he at least seems to have blundered into something which has eased Hope's mind of a great load. She seemed on the edge of a decline, and quite suddenly she is almost her old self, although she will not go to a dance with him. She is trying to tell him something which he thinks may be important.

* * *

CHAPTER THIRTY-FOUR

No Confession

"I'VE been an awful care to you," Hope said to Dirk. "I've been your responsibility all along. It was you I came to see that first night. If you hadn't gone to Jersey, and spoken to me, I shouldn't have come. I've a notion, too, that you persuaded Rupert to keep me on. I want to tell you that I understand all you've done . . . your motive, I mean . . . and that you won't have to worry any more."

He felt that she was making uncertain passes, watching for betrayal. He said:

"I'm not really capable of happiness," Isabel said.

"Thank you for thinking my motive was right. It was always you I was thinking of...as in the case of wiring your father."

She was too quick for him.

"I thought you wanted to share responsibility with him."

"Partly," he acknowledged. "But I thought it would do you good to have hi come, to patch up the old quarrel."

She gave him her full dark eyes.

"I believe that. I believe it was partly, maybe mostly, that. I didn't believe it...I never thought of such a thing...until just now. Before last night...there were times when I hated you."

She looked away.

"Yes, I knew," said Dirk.

Her eyes came back to him.

"The first time I saw you," she said, "there in the circus...I mean when you spoke to me, when I turned around and saw you standing there...it seemed as if I had to go with you, to follow you... That was why..."

Again she looked away. Her voice was low.

That was why I came to you."

He said quickly:

"But you talked to Rupert."

"I thought there'd been a mistake"—still the low voice, "I thought Chow had made a mistake. I thought I'd never see you again."

* * *

She started, straightened. Her glance chilled. Her voice grew hard.

"I was telling you that I understood," she said. "You had a right to protect yourself, your house."

"From what?" he asked.

Her eyes fell. She seemed not to breathe.

He leaned nearer. His hand closed over hers.

'From what, Hope?" more gently. His blood was racing with the thing she had said a moment before...about that first night at the circus, about wanting to follow him. If he could make her say all, tell all!

But she was tight-lipped and silent. After a moment she rose and stood beside the window, silhouetted against the snow-freighted boughs, her whole figure saying, "Don't come. Don't speak to me."

He came, stood beside her.

"I'm sorry, Hope. You were trying to tell me something. That's all I want to hear."

"Just this," she said. "You were right to watch and to guard your house. The danger is past. You don't have to worry any more." She turned, met his eyes squarely. "Will you believe me?" she said.

"Of course," after a pause.

Dirk wished that he might accept the peace of mind she was so plainly striving to bestow..

"Do you mean," he said, "that you are out of danger yourself?"

"Of course," she answered.

Dirk said, finding his voice husky:

"Some day you'll tell me everything."

Her eyes drowned him. He looked away from them, down at the hand lying on his, a small hand, browner than the one it rested on.

Standing like this, with merely that light contact of the hands, they seemed to breathe one breath, to have one pulse.

Dirk lifted the brown platinum-ringed hand to his lips. He didn't trust himself to look into her eyes again. It wouldn't have mattered, however. Her eyes were closed.

He said:

"If I can do anything...Anything. Understand?"

"I understand. I know."

Her hands were her own now. They covered her face.

"And you won't go tonight?"

"Not tonight. I'd better not."

She was right, of course. He went out softly.

* * *

"Tell me which," said Isabel.

Dirk was about to say, "Which what?" when he realized that she had been talking earnestly ever since he had emerged from the stagline, and taken her out of Joe Vincent's arms.

It was a silver room, and because the year had entered December, the decorations encroached upon the Yuletide. Tiny silver Christmas trees, even and erect as sentinels, glistened against the walls. Wreaths of mistletoe and holly with silver leaves, rainbows of jewel-small lights, twinkled frostily. There were two orchestras, one at each end of the ball-room. The music was continuous. The floor, under the pale silver light, was smooth as ice.

"Let's get out," said Isabel. "That fat Parsmore man is lolloping this way."

They fled toward a 'smoking-lounge and the Parsmore man whirled about like a top and grabbed the young hostess.

There was no one at all in the lounge. Isabel looked particularly well tonight, Dirk thought. There wasn't very much of her wine-red velvet dress—except around the feet—but its color did something to her hair and to her skin—made her more gold and white than he had ever seen her. She said, half-glancing at him,

"I'm relieved that Rupert's better. And Hope, too. Wish she could have come. But who'd want to... and not dance? And the winter we're having...the snow! She'd better stay in awhile. Elinor and Gage are cruising, by the way. They've left Florida."

"Happy anywhere," said Dirk, for want of something better.

Isabel remarked that she doubted it.

"What's 'happy' anyway?" she asked. "Does any one need to be happy? Yes, some people," answering her own question. "But I doubt if I was ever happy in my life."

Then, forestalling any contradiction or condolence from Dirk, she added,

"I don't mind. I don't think I'm really capable of happiness."

Isabel delivers a home truth tomorrow.

DALLAS TAXICAB STRIKE AT AN END

By The Associated Press

DALLAS, Tex., June 1—Taxicabs rolled over Dallas streets again today after a five-day strike of 600 drivers.

The drivers, who had demanded one-third of gross receipts, agreed to return to their machines under the old rates of one-fourth until an arbitration board could hear their case. Operators agreed to withdraw 125 cabs from service.

A novel three wheeled, rubber tired vehicle is driven by a person seated in a chair seat operating bicycle type mechanism geared to the front wheels, steering being done with a wheel connected to a single wheel in the rear.

Members of the committee on arrangements are Donald Crevlston, Ray Augenstine, Robert N. Heininger and Boyle Morgan.

WEDDINGS

The marriage of Mrs. Cora Drollinger of Cherry street and Homer D Doan of Windsor street took place Saturday morning at the home of the latter. The service was read by Rev. Lawrence A. Wood, pastor of Trinity Baptist church, and was witnessed by Miss Ruth Martin and Gail Doan, son of Mr. Doan The couple will make their home on Windsor street

Miss Margaret E Gruber, daughter of Mr and Mrs. H H. Gruber of 646 East Church street, became the bride of Herman F. Hamilton of Bucyrus, son of Mr. and Mrs. H L Hamilton of 226 Olney avenue, in a ceremony read yesterday in the First Community church at Columbus The single ring service was read by Rev. Roy A. Burkhart, pastor, at 12 45 o'clock

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Naomi Gruber of Columbus, as maid of honor, and Robert Maskill of Marion was Mr. Hamilton's best man Completing the bridal party were Miss Rosella Fletcher of Marion, the bride's cousin, and Russell Wolfe of Columbus

Miss Gruber wore for her wedding a gown of aquamarine blue crepe with mousseline-de-sole trimming, fashioned on long lines and leg o' mutton sleeves Her accessories were in white and her flowers were a corsage of gardenias and white sweet peas

The maid of honor was costumed in yellow crepe with white accessories and Miss Fletcher's gown was of pink crepe with white accessories Their flowers were corsages of Briarcliff and Johanna Hill roses fashioned alike

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast for the bridal party was served at the Fort Hayes hotel, and later Mr and Mrs. Hamilton left on a short wedding trip They will be at home after June 5, in the Leuthold apartments, 590 East Mansfield street, in Bucyrus.

The bride attended Harding High school and is a member of the Gradale sorority. Mr. Hamilton was graduated from Harding High school in 1933 and Federal Art School at Minneapolis. He is employed at the Isaly Dairy Co. store at Bucyrus.

BUCYRUS GIRL WEDS COLUMBUS YOUTH

Martha Fields Becomes Bride of Louis J. Katonak.

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, June 1—Miss Martha Fields, daughter of Mr. and Mrs J. L. Fields of this city, chose a tailored white suit with white accessories for her marriage, Saturday afternoon, to Louis J. Katonak of Columbus.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. Monroe Wolfe, pastor of First Methodist Episcopal church, at the home of the bride's parents. The couple was attended by Miss Ann Jones and Dr. Albert Kostoss, both of Columbus. Music during the service was played by Miss Lois Rexroth A reception at the Field home followed the service. Mr. and Mrs. Katonak left in the early evening for a motor trip in the southern part of the state. Upon their return they will be at home in Columbus where they are both employed.

Announcement of the approaching marriage, Saturday, June 27, of Miss Bertha Walter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Walter, and Oliver Powell of Steubenville, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Powell of Shadyside, has been made here. Miss Walter is a member of Bucyrus elementary teaching staff. Mr. Powell, formerly a member of the Telegraph-Forum staff is now employed at Steubenville.

Three Bucyrus High school graduates were honored at Ohio colleges last week. James Barrett, junior at Ohio university, was elected to Torch, outstanding senior men's honor society, and Miss Carol Seeger, freshman in the same school, was given special recognition by Cresset, senior women's society, for the high scholastic record during her freshman year where she ranked among the highest. Miss Lois Rexrol, who is graduating from Ohio State college of education this month, was among those recently elected to membership in Pi Lambda Theta, national honorary education sorority.

Ray-Bintz Wedding Ceremony Is Read At St. Mary Church

THE marriage of Miss Helen Ray, daughter of Mrs T. J. Ray of 253 South Greenwood street, to Robert J. Bintz of Sharon, Pa., son of Mr and Mrs A. L Bintz of 570 East Center street, was solemnized at 9 o'clock this morning in St. Mary Catholic church. The pastor, Rev. William J Spickerman, read the ceremony and was the celebrant for the nuptial high mass

Tall wicker baskets filled with peonies and spring flowers stood at either side of the entrance to the chancel and bouquets of spring flowers filled the vases on the altar. The mass was sung by the children of St. Mary parochial school and Miss Frances Scranton presided at the organ.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her brother-in-law, Bernard C. Moloney, and her attendants were her sister, Miss Mary Jane Ray, and the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. E. J Shanahan of Clyde. Jack Bintz of Erie, Pa., was his brother's best man, and the guests were seated by Dr E. J. Shanahan of Clyde, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, his brothers, A L Bintz Jr., of New Castle, Pa., and T. A Bintz of Fremont, and Fred Jarrett of Farrell, Pa.

The bride wore a pulquant frock of pink mousseline-de-soie over flowered taffeta in the same shades and the full skirt was made floor length Her hat was of pink maline and was self trimmed, and she wore gloves in a harmonizing shade The maid of honor and matron of honor wore gowns of yellow net embroidered in daisies, and fashioned on lines similar to the bride's gown, with yellow slippers, and large leghorn hats. The bride carried an old-fashioned bouquet of blue delphinium and pink roses, with gypsophila, and her attendants' flowers were hand corsages of daisies and gypsophila. The men in the wedding party were in white and wore boutonieres of blue cornflower.

The bride's mother wore a gown of brown chiffon over foulard in harmonizing tones and a large yellow felt hat. Her corsage was of Talisman roses Mrs. Bintz was costumed in a gown of pink lace over which she wore a jacket of the same material Her hat and gloves were in pink and American beauty shades. Her flowers were a corsage of American Beauty roses.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast and informal reception were held at Hotel Harding for 50 close relatives and friends. Later Mr. and Mrs. Bintz left on a wedding trip which will take them to New York City and other points in the east. For traveling the bride chose an all white ensemble made with a three-quarter length coat. Upon their return they will make their home in Sharon, Pa., where Mr. Bintz is associated with the Sharon Drygoods store.

The bride and bridegroom were graduated from St. Mary Parochial school, and the latter attended Notre Dame university.

Out-of-town relatives and friends here for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Bintz Jr. and daughter Barbara of Erie, Pa., Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Bintz of Fremont, Dr. and Mrs. E. H. Shanahan of Clyde, O., Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bintz of Erie, Pa., Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jarrett and Fred Jarrett of Farrell, Pa., Mr. and Mrs Edward Schroeder and Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Kirchner of Cleveland.

Mrs. Thurn Offers June Bride Some Helpful Hints

— — Friends in Marion- June, — month of brides! And to those — — come helpful suggestions — — make realization just as — as anticipation ever was — — a woman creates a home, — — renders the greatest business — — world She must be an ex — e She must be a financial — — and budget the money — household But all this will — — nothing without efficiency to — — run the home, a heart to — — and a smile to brighten the — — others.

Equipment

— — the tools for the new — — as you would the equipment — — office Consider the pur — — for which they will be used — — sauce pan is to have con — — wear it should be built to — — that wear If a bowl will be — — but occasionally, an inexpensive one will serve the same purpose as a more costly one Ask yourself these questions before buying —Is the utensil the proper size for my use? Is it practical convenient, an easy to handle? Will it clean easily?

Do not purchase household or kitchen equipment in a hurry Make a list of the things you will need to run the home efficiently Check over the items carefully and purchase the backbone of supplies These would include a coffee maker of some type Good coffee can be made in any of the various ways—a percolator, drip-o-lator, coffee maker which requires pulverized coffee, or even an old fashioned enamel pot

A tea kettle should be ample in size for your greatest need of freshly boiling water Then if you wish only a small amount, the bottom of the tea kettle will be covered and water will be boiling in a "jiffy."

A good double boiler serves numerous purposes The newer type gives the use of a large and a small sauce pan, or they may be fitted together to form the boiler for steam cooking A quart size is handy and convenient for hot cereals, seven-minute frosting, custards and sauces.

Frying pans or skillets as they are called in some sections of the country, should be of a heavy metal. Aluminum, cast iron or any metal that will heat evenly and hold the heat. It is a convenience to have one small frying pan for frying bacon or eggs for two; another medium sized for the regular family meal; a third and large size with a fitted cover for frying chicken. swiss steaks and foods that one would steam or cook slowly in their gravy or natural juices

A French frying kettle is a life saver Men the world over have an inborn fondness for French fried potatoes, onions and oysters Women delight in soft, delicate croquette mixtures with a crusty outside.

Mixing bowls should be round bottoms, stainless and in various sizes that nest. These may be in color to brighten the kitchen

Wooden spoons are easy on the bowls and easy on the nerves as they make no noise -

Measuring cups and standard measuring spoons are essentials The measuring cups should include both the dry and the liquid measure type, that is the liquid cup should measure full below the level of the actual cup itself, thus preventing any running over, the dry measure cup is a full cup at the top thus enabling one to level off flour or sugar with a knife or spatula These cups may be metal or glass Glass ones may be tempered by putting them into cold water and bringing to a boil This will prevent their breaking when hot liquids are measured.

Household Gadgets

Simple tools make light work for the home maker. A tool box in the kitchen, another one on the second floor will pay for itself many times over. This box should include nails and tacks in various sizes, file, hammer, screw driver, tack puller and other items of personal choice To keep them ever in place, paint the handles some bright color. This will remind the user to return them to their rightful place.

Brushes are most helpful. Select them for wear, utility and convenience Stiff bristle ones for rough surfaces, cleaning vegetables, soft ones for use on rubber garments, silver and brass cleaning

Kitchen Gadgets

Tools that make the foods to be served more beautiful, are an asset to any household A pastry bag of canvas with a star tube will border a meat loaf with potatoes and make it a picture, a metal decorating set will give a festive look to the simplest of cakes; a potato baller may be used for turnips, melons, potatoes, carrots or any fruit or vegetable that is firm.

Knives and spatulas should not be bought for price alone Good steel knives will hold a sharp edge, spatulas of fine steel will bend and give the assistance required of them However, even though they are more costly to purchase, with care they will last indefinitely Use one knife only for acid fruits.

A flat egg beater is a handy tool for folding egg whites into any mixture. The round type is convenient for quick whipping and ease.

Select your household equipment as you do your friends—with thought and care

Mrs George Thurn

MARSHMALLOW SAUCE

Place marshmallows in a well greased top of a double boiler Add one tablespoon of boiling water to each marshmallow for a delicious sauce for ice cream, cottage pudding or baked apples

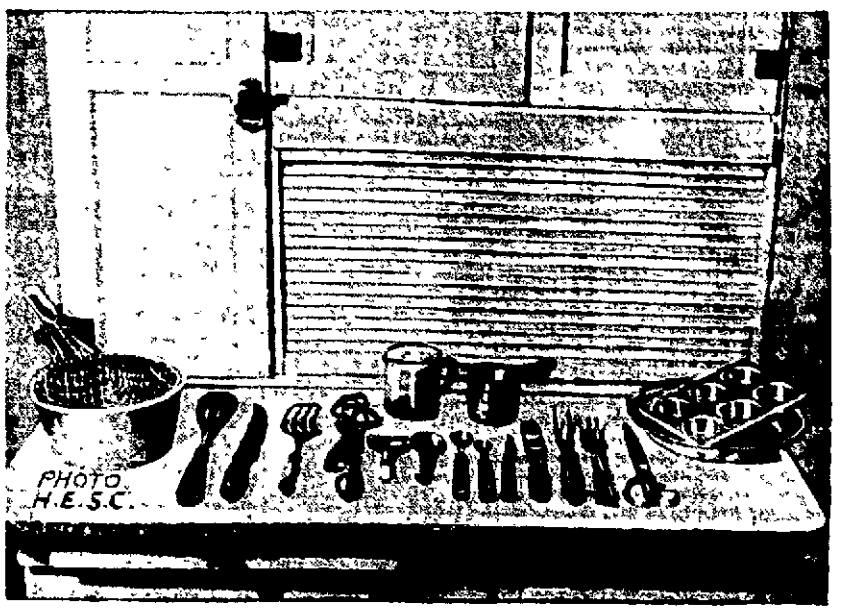
Sugar Syrup

Syrup makes a better lemonade than sugar added to the cold liquid. Make this of one cup of sugar, one cup water, Boil without stirring for five minutes Strain, cool and keep in covered jar in refrigerator. This can be used for tea, punch or any fruit drink

French Fried Potatoes

Potatoes should be thoroughly washed under cold water before being fried. This washing will remove the starch that causes them to stick together while frying

THE BRIDE'S FIRST KITCHEN TOOLS



Select the first tools for your home considering efficiency, convenience and quality.

Married Comrades

BY ADELE GARRISON

Dicky and Madge Decide To See Sam Brixton First.

TALK to Sam Brixton before we see Ronald!" I echoed, thoroughly startled by Dicky's proposal

"You heard me the first time" my husband gibed good-naturedly "But I'll repeat it to you slowly I think it might be a good thing to see Sam Brixton before we go to New Haven Ten to one, Ronald is exaggerating this thing—you know how highly strung he is—and we ought to know how things really stand before we stick our mixing spoon into the batter."

"I suppose you are right," I said briskly, "but"—with sudden resolution—"you'll have to do the talking to Sam Brixton I can't bear the sight of the man"

"What!" Dicky ejaculated in patent consternation. "A delicate, embarrassing situation like that! I should simply mess it up Look here! I'll do all the preliminary sapping and mining, and I'll be standing by in case of casualties, with my first aid kit right in my hand, but when it comes to the gossamer diplomacy thing you're not going to let your old man down, are you?"

His voice had in it the "come-the-birds-off-the-bushes" cadence which Dicky always finds so effective, but which, to do him justice, he uses only in emergencies such as he believed his present problem to be.

Must See Him

It is a cadence to which I generally respond. But I think I should have successfully resisted its lure in this matter of interviewing Samuel Brixton, whom I heartily dislike and distrust, had it not been that the fantastic scheme for rescuing Ronald from his financial difficulties which had come to me would necessarily involve dealing with the boys stepfather.

The transaction I visioned, without much hope, however, of its success, would need Samuel Brixton's active cooperation There were reasons, cogent ones, why just at this time I could not take Dicky into my confidence, and I know that Harry Underwood must be kept in ignorance of my project.

Lillian must know even before I broached the subject to Brixton, but if things went right, as I hoped they would, it would be unnecessary for Helena Brixton and her young daughter, Carolyn, ever to dream that there had been danger of financial ruin coming into their lives.

How much Ronald would have to know about my scheme would depend upon circumstances But until I could get back to the farm and see Lillian, I could only deal in generalities and promises more or less vague either to Ronald or his stepfather.

My spirits, my courage and my resolution deflated so rapidly that I found it difficult to voice the answer to Dicky's anxious, coaxing query. But I knew that it must be answered, and I finally brought out a response that I hoped did not sound too forced

"I never will desert Mr. Micawber," I quoted, and Dicky chuckled in relief

Arrive at Building.

"I counted on that," he said shamelessly, and then, as he again sent the car along at an accelerated pace, he threw me a bit of needed advice

"Better work your brain fast," he said "Brixton's offices are downtown you know, not so very far from the end of the tunnel We shall be there in very little more than nothing flat."

His flamboyant prediction did not seem so far out of the way to me when we finally drew up on a side street near the skyscraper in which Samuel Brixton's offices are housed. Absorbed in frantic speculation as to what I should say to the man I so heartily disliked, I had paid no attention to time or distance, and the interval between Dicky's last remark and our arrival seemed miraculously short.

Dicky jockeyed the car into a good parking place, and when he had sprung out and given me his hand for a descent—a courtesy he never neglects and which I have learned not to anticipate—he ran up the windows, locked the car and fell into step beside me

"Do you remember the number of Brixton's offices, or the floor?" he asked

"I never knew them," I said hastily, and Dicky chuckled

"Defending the well-known memory?" he gibed "You needn't. I'm perfectly aware that if you ever heard them so much as whispered, you'd have them pat But what's the need of knowing them" We know what building houses the gentleman, and there's always a directory on the walls And I, at least, have learned how to read Step on the gas, sweet, or in other words twirl your tonsils Sammy must be in by this time unless he's the world's champion sleepy head"

* * *

"HERE WE are!" Dicky said as we came into the skyscraper in which Samuel Brixton's offices were housed, and ranged ourselves in front of the huge directory bulletin set into the wall. "A—B—Bowles, Brant, Brixton —fourteenth floor—1420 Come along, let's get it over with"

He put his hand beneath my elbow and hurried me toward the elevator at a pace much faster than my suddenly unwilling feet wished to travel. I had consented to talk to Samuel Brixton about Ronald's queer behavior which had caused us so much anxiety, and had thought I had schooled myself to the unpleasant ek.

But I suddenly found myself curiously reluctant to enter the elevator. It was as if something inside myself were pulling me back warning me that I was about to face something unpleasant. I have had those queer premonitions before, and have learned to heed them

Enter Office.

I gave no hint to Dicky of my feeling, however, and soon I was standing with him in front of an ornately lettered door, bearing the legend "Samuel Brixton, Investments" Dicky opened it and stepped aside for me to pass him. We saw a reception room, empty, with a door, ajar, leading to an inner office

It was almost a second before I realized that there was something wrong or at least not ordinarily scheduled in an office From the inside room came a feminine voice, which sounded as though it were choking back frightened sobs

"I don't know what to make of it," the voice said 'Go away, Jerry, and let me mull over it by myself a bit"

"That's oke by me," a pleasant boyish voice replied, and then a youth came through the door, closing it after him, and turning before he realized that we were in the room.

"Good morning!" he said, plainly a bit perturbed by the knowledge that we must have overheard the colloquy in the inner room, but determined to ignore it. 'What can I do for you"

"We should like to see Mr Samuel Brixton," Dicky said. "Is he in?"

There was palpable hesitation in his manner, a hesitation tinged with something very like anxiety.

"I'm sorry," he said at last, 'But he isn't here

'Can you tell me when you expect him?' Dicky countered smoothly "We can wait, if he is coming in this forenoon"

He was silent for a long second, then he snapped into action

"Please be seated," he said as he walked toward the inner door. "I'll find out."

With his hand on the knob, he looked back at us.

"Is this a business or a personal call?" he asked, and there was that in his voice which robbed the query of impertinence

'Personal!" I said quickly, almost rudely forestalling any response of Dicky's, but with a queer conviction that I must send my message into the inner room "We are very near friends of the Brixtons, and it is quite imperative that we see Mr. Brixton as soon as possible The name is Graham"

Wait Anxiously.

"I'll find out if—when—he's expected," he said and then the door closed behind him, and Dicky and I were looking with curious intentness at each other.

"So you get it, too," Dicky said in a low, cautious voice

I nodded.

"There's something not quite right," I said "I can feel it."

'Well! we'll soon know—whatever they choose to tell us," he retorted cynically, and then we both waited silently until the young man came back into the outer office

'You are Mrs. Graham?" he queried

"That is my name"

"You are a close friend of Mrs Brixton?"

"Yes," I answered steadily, wondering what Helena Brixton would say to my assertion, but feeling queerly compelled to the answer

"Then," he said, "will you please come into the other room and speak to Miss Marshall?"

RECIPE REQUESTS ANSWERED HERE

Chicken Croquettes

Two tablespoons fat; two teaspoons minced onion, four tablespoons flour, one teaspoon salt, one eighth teaspoon pepper; one cup milk, two cups cooked, minced chicken, one teaspoon minced parsley.

Melt fat in frying pan, add minced onion and pan fry until yellow Blend in flour, salt and pepper Stir until smooth. Remove from heat and add milk. Stir thoroughly, return to heat and cook until mixture thickens. Add chicken and minced parsley. Chill thoroughly. Form into croquettes and roll in fine, dry crumbs, dip in egg diluted with milk or water, then dip again into crumbs. Fry in deep fat heated to a temperature of 375 to 380 degrees F. or that will brown a cube of bread in one slowly counts forty.

Marshmallow Icing

One and three fourths cups sugar, one half cup water; three egg whites, twelve marshallows.

Boil sugar and water together until syrup form a soft ball in water or will spin a thread. Pour over stiffly beaten egg whites While icing is hot, add marshmallows cut into pieces Flavor as desired.

Red Devil Food Cake

One cup grated chocolate; one half cup milk; one cup brown sugar; one half cup shortening; one cup milk; two and one half cups flour, yolks of two eggs; white of one egg; one teaspoon soda; two teaspoons baking powder, one teaspoon vanilla; one tablespoon lemon juice; one half teaspoon salt.

Mix together the chocolate, half cup of milk, brown sugar and shortening in the top of a double boiler. Cook until thick and smooth. Cool. Add the well beaten egg yolks and milk to which the soda has been added Sift together the dry ingredients and add to the chocolate mixture. Mix only until well blended. Add lemon juice. Fold in the egg whites and Vanilla Bake in two, nine inch layer cake pans and frost with a plain boiled frosting Bitter chocolate may be grated over the top if desired.

Mexican Salad

Two green peppers; one sweet red pepper, one medium sized onion; four tomatoes; six slices of bacon, one fourth cup vinegar, one teaspoon chili powder, salt to taste

Peel and slice the tomatoes Mix with the thinly sliced onion, the chopped green and red peppers Fry the bacon until crisp Remove from pan and mix chili powder with the bacon fat in pan. Four in vinegar, add seasoning to taste bring to a boil Thoroughly chill before serving on a bed of lettuce. This salad needs no additional dressing. This salad is delicious in combination with cottage cheese.

Buttermilk Sherbet

Two cups buttermilk; one half cup sugar; one cup crushed pineapple; one egg white, unbeaten; one and one half teaspoons vanilla

Combine buttermilk, sugar and pineapple Freeze to a mush Remove from tray, add egg white, beat together until light and fluffy Return to chilling unit and freeze.

CLEANING CARROTS

It is better to clean old carrots with a steel brush rather than peel them Young tender carrots should be cleaned with a bristle brush Carrots should be cut with a bit of green left on as they bleed the same as beets.

FROSTING WILL NOT CRACK

Frosting will not crack or peel off a cake if a tablespoon of lemon juice is added with the flavoring.

TO REMOVE SALT

Slice a raw potato into soups or sauces that are too salty. The raw potato absorbs the salt and can be removed before the dish is served

SPICES IN FRUITS

If the spices in pickles, preserves and relishes are placed in a tea ball or small cheese cloth bag they will not discolor the fruits and can be easily removed.

The Stars Say--

For Tuesday, June 2

The planetary configurations bearing rule on the affairs of this day seem to wield a rather devastating and disruptive force. There is likely to be a sudden change or upheaval, which may incite to travel or new associations. These should be managed judiciously, since there are signs of jealousy and suspicion. Be careful with property and labor.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year of upsetting or disintegrating circumstances, which may call for a reorganization of the plans and may take one away from the accustomed fields or contacts. Be wise in such decisions, as there is menace of jealousy, and the revelation of secret enmities or sinister plans. Safeguard property and the fruit of labor. It is wise to look within for guidance of a spiritual nature, intuition or "hunches."

A child born on this day may be talented in out-of-the-ordinary channels, having studious, radical, mystical or curious tendencies.

Notable nativity: Thomas Hardy, poet.

DELAWARE W. C. T. U. PLANS CELEBRATION

Special to The Star

DELAWARE, O., June 1—The sixty-second anniversary of the Woman's Christian Temperance union will be celebrated Wednesday at the William Street M. E. church on the site where the first state constitution giving name to the organization that grew out of the woman's temperance crusade was drafted on June 3, 187.

The late Mrs. L. D. McCabe, mother of Mrs. A. M. Courtenay and Robert L. McCabe of Delaware, and a close friend of Frances Willard, who was a noted temperance leader, was the first president of the W. C. T. U in Ohio. During the temperance crusades out of which grew the W. C. T. U., Frances Willard visited at the McCabe home, which is still standing at 94 South Liberty avenue in Delaware.

Bowes' Amateur Troupers Have Interesting Lines

Every one of the amateurs with the Major Bowes Unit No. 1 which will be on the Palace theater stage Tuesday, has an interesting bit of personal history that the major has compiled for the interest of radio fans as well as patrons of his stage attraction. Presentations will be at 2, 8:20 and 10:50 p. m.

"Skeets" Simmons, the hobo with the act, went to work at the age of 10 in the White Mills, Pa. glass factory and stayed there for 10 years at $3 a week. He took to hoboing when a doctor advised him to get out in the open air. He started 25 years ago and still retains his fondness for this precarious existence. He has been around the world several times and his ambition now is to buy a trailer and travel the length and breadth of the United States.

"Smokey" Plays Harmonica

For no apparent reason Sam Sperling, the harmonicist, is nicknamed "Smokey." He is a native New Yorker, a blond, and a handball enthusiast. Collecting odd harmonicas is his hobby and he would like to become known as the world's greatest player of classical songs on that instrument. He was a runner for a telegraph company before his debut in radio, and is so shy that he never would have auditioned on the Major Bowes hour if friends who knew of his ability had not urged him.

Baseball, basketball and football are Alfred "Red" Reynolds' chief athletic diversions and collecting stamps and old relics is his hobby. As an outstanding incident of his childhood he remembers representing his Brooklyn, N. Y., school in the American Legion track meet.

While Dewey Howard Moon, baritone, was going to high school he worked as a coal miner in Vanderbilt, Pa., a small mining town about 65 miles from Pittsburgh, and he continued as a miner during summer vacations from Howard university in Washington, D. C. After college he taught in a high school in Virginia for three years, but gave it up and went back to Pittsburgh and worked as a bell-boy in hotels. He was married one day when he lost his job and stayed out of work for two and one-half years.

It was on a visit to New York City that Fritzi Robbins, whose specialty is popular songs, sang over Major Bowes' hour. Her ambition is to become a success in radio and on the screen and to appease the desire for the stage she studied dramatics for a time.

Knock Is Boost

Caught mimicing customers in a department store for the amusement of her fellow workers, Sara Berner, impersonator and character portrayer, was fired, and for the same reason she was let out of a job in a New York department store. She would like to become another Ruth Draper.

Dorothy Bows, the piccolo-voiced girl, is known to her friends as Dorry. Her ambitions are centered around the operatic field, and she recounts that the first money she ever earned was spent to hear Lily Pons. It was with trepidation and diffidence that she auditioned for Major Bowes. The tumultuous approval that greeted her "Queen of the Night Aria," and its accompanying cadenza, in which she reached "D", an octave above high "C", the highest note ever recorded by a human voice, dissolved her misgivings. She boasts of being a direct descendant of Robert E. Lee.

Ed Cogan and Alphonso J. Tomaino, seniors in the Red Bank, N. J., high school, Joseph Stephen Lang, a senior at Rumsen High school in the same city, and Henri J. Burke, 17, of Red Bank, are the "Red Bank Hillbillies." Cogan, the leader, plays the guitar, banjo, accordion, piano, harmonica, jews harp and saxophone. Tomaino is a violinist and Lang plays the harmonica and guitar.

One candidate was balloted on at a well attended meeting of Vera Chapter No. 64, O. E. S., Wednesday night. The charter was draped for Mrs. Lyde Stone and Mrs. Mary Forney. Mrs. Blanche Highly and J. C. Sharlock were appointed a committee to adapt resolutions on the death of Mrs. Stone. The officers practiced and plans were completed for the annual inspection to be held June 10 when Mrs. Flossie Mather of Marysville will be present and inspect the work.

* * *

Rev. Lawrence Dickerson of Prospect gave an address at the meeting of the Caledonia Townsend club held in the town hall Wednesday night. T. A. O'Leary of Marion also gave an address. J. L. Dice and D. G. McLain entertained with violin and guitar music and Mrs. John Jolliffe contributed two vocal solos.

MOTION IS OVERRULED IN PENSION ACTION

Judge Turns Down City's Request To Strike Part of Petition.

In a development in a case testing city council's right to abolish policemen's and firemen's pensions, Common Pleas Judge Hector S. Young has overruled a motion of the city in the suit brought by Hilbert D. Uline, a retired fireman.

The city sought in its motion to strike certain words and figures from the petition of Uline, who several months ago brought action for a declaratory judgment on the pension question. The suit is being watched with interest by firemen's and policemen's organizations which regard it as a test of their pension systems generally.

Judge Young has given the city leave to file further pleadings in the case by June 13.

City Solicitor Ralph E. Carhart said he has not yet decided what step the city will take following loss of its motion to eliminate certain clauses and phrases from the petition.

Indians Move Toward Top Spot in American League

TRIM WHITE SOX, 7-5, TO LAND ONLY HALF GAME BEHIND BOSTON

Round Out Five Straight Victories; Browns Upset Tigers Third Time.

By The Associated Press

Those Indians from Cleveland are on the warpath

Tomahawks swinging they're hot on the trail of the American league's leading and most highly-priced scalps—the New York Yankees and Boston's million dollar Red Sox.

Pulling up from fifth to third place last week, the Tribe camped today only half a game back of the Sox, after stretching its winning streak to five straight with a 7-5 victory over the Chicago White Sox yesterday.

The Indians' surprising showing in the last several days, particularly in a generally-better performance record by the Cleveland pitchers, was climaxed yesterday by a whole landslide of surprises all down the line in both leagues.

Browns Upset Tigers

For instance, in the American, the hapless St. Louis Browns upset the Detroit Tigers 11-10 for the third straight time, and the Yankees, with Joe Di Maggio again in the hero's role at bat, made it three out of four in a week over the supposedly mighty Red Sox with a 5-4 triumph. Rounding out the day for the league, Pete Appleton, in a six-inning relief trick, outpitched three members of Connie Mack's up-and-down Athletics hurling staff for a 6-4 win by Washington.

The unexpected was even more marked in the National league. The daffiness boys from Brooklyn handed Bill Terry's Giants, who seem to be cracking as expected, a 4-3 setback, their third straight at the Dodgers' hands; the Boston Bees, after taking four losses on the chin from the Phillies, turned on the heat and came through with a 6-5 win in 11 innings; Dizzy Dean was belted for 19 hits by the Cincinnati Reds, but the Cardinals slugged just as hard and came through 8-7 in a 12-frame thriller, and the Cubs, on the strength of Ethan Allen's timely single in the tenth to score the winning run, outlasted the Pittsburgh Pirates 8-7.

Tribe Performs Better

The sudden form reversal of the Cleveland pitchers in the last week along with generally better fielding rank as the most likely reason for the Tribe's big push. In the five-game streak they have yielded a total of only 38 hits while the Indians were collecting nearly twice as many. Mel Harder came through with a nine-hit performance yesterday as the Indians fell on Vernon Kennedy, who won his no-hit-no-run fame at their expense a year ago, and shelled him for 13 safeties.

Rookies stole the show in several spots on the big-time program for Sunday. Di Maggio tripled to drive in the winning run against the Red Sox. Stuart Martin singled to do the same for the Cardinals in the batting barrage against the Reds.

Gene Moore homered in the ninth to bring the Bees from behind, tie up the count, and enable them to hang on until the Phils were downed. Buddy Hassett's batting, including two run-making singles, helped force the Giants down before the Brooklyns, while Appleton's twirling for Washington saved the Senators' day.

However, some of the boys who've been around longer shared the glory. For instance, Rogers Hornsby, the Browns manager, came up as a pinch-hitter in the ninth and drove over the winning run against the Tigers in his first playing appearance of the year.

Winner of Speedway Classic

Louis Meyer of Huntington Park, Calif., is shown waving from his auto after winning the 500-mile Indianapolis Speedway classic Saturday. Meyer is the first driver in history to win the 500-mile auto race three times. He average 109.069 miles an hour for the 500 miles. (International News photo).

CLEVELAND CLUB BUYS MORE LAND

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., June 1 — The Cleveland Baseball club today had purchased nearly 20,000 square feet of land adjoining the east end of League park, home of the Indians, "because it was available at a fair price," said C. C. Slapnicka, general manager. Slapnicka said the plot would be used as a parking lot, adding "what will be done in the future remains to be seen."

BREWERS TAKE OVER AMERICAN ASS'N LEAD BY TRIMMING BLUES

Columbus Red Birds Win Two Out of Three from Toledo Mud Hens.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, June 1—Allan Sothoron's Milwaukee Brewers returned to their own park today to give home fans a look at the American Association's first place club.

The Brewers, liberally supplied with talent sent down by the world champion Detroit Tigers, won two games yesterday where it did the most good, whipping the Kansas City Blues twice to take over the lead. It took them 14 inning to win the first game 8 to 2, but they won the second one at regulation distance, 9 to 2, to move a half game ahead of the blues in the standing.

Chet Laabs' bat was the vital factor in the first victory. His homer in the ninth tied the score at 2-all and his single in the 14th drove Bernie Unalt home with the winning run. Before they ceased firing in the 14th the Brews picked up five more runs.

Kansas City and the new league-leaders were rained out of action Memorial day. The Brewers were slated to open a four-game series today with the 1925 champion Minneapolis Millers.

Minneapolis' third place margin over St. Paul was reduced to a half-game over the week-end as the Saints won two out of three engagements. The Millers won Saturday's morning game, 12 to 4, but the Saints bounced back in the afternoon for a 12 to 4 decision, and gained the edge yesterday by taking a 10-inning affair 7 to 6. Ira Hutchinson, fifth of the St. Paul pitchers to work, received credit for the victory yesterday and laid down a bunt on a squeeze play to score Gordon Slade with the winning run.

Indianapolis jumped from seventh to fifth place by taking three out of four from Louisville. The Indians won both holiday contests, 9 to 8, and 4 to 2, and split even with the Colonels yesterday. The Colonels hammered out 17 hits to win the first Sunday till 13 to 6, but Indianapolis came back to win the second game 5 to 2.

Columbus took a slugging match from Toledo, 15 to 10, after sharing Saturday's honors with the Mud Hens. Toledo won the first Memorial day decision, 6 to 1, and the Red Birds choked off a late rally to win the other one, 10 to 9.

$20,000 CHECK TO BE PRESENTED TONIGHT

Dayton, O., Driver Finishes in Fourth Place; Meyer Sets New Record.

By The Associated Press

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 1—For the third time in eight years Louis Meyer of Huntington Park, Calif., will stop to the front tonight when his name is called and receive the $20,000 first prize check for having won the 500-mile Memorial day automobile race at the Indianapolis motor speedway.

Prizes for the first 10 finishers and the consolation awards for all starters in the race will be presented to the drivers at the annual speedway dinner tonight.

Meyer raced to victory here Saturday in the record breaking time of 109.069 miles an hour. The previous record for the long grind was 106.240 set by Kelly Petillo, also of Huntington Park, Calif., last year.

Trailing him to the finish line were Ted Horn of Los Angeles, second; Doc Mackenzie of Eddington, Pa., third; Mauri Rose of Dayton, O., fourth; Chet Miller of Detroit, fifth; Ray Pixley of Fullerton, Calif., sixth; Wilbur Shaw of Indianapolis, seventh; George Barringer of Houston, Tex., eight; Zeke Meyer of Germantown, Pa., ninth and George Connor of Los Angeles, tenth.

BIG TEN BASEBALL TITLE IN BALANCE

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, June 1 — The Western Conference baseball championship will be decided this week-end in the final two games of the year.

Michigan and Iowa, tied with eight wins and one loss each, tangle in a doubleheader at Ann Arbor, the first game Friday and the second Saturday. A clean sweep for either team will win it the title, but a split will hand the championship to Illinois. The Illini competed their schedule with record of 10 wins and two losses.

Indiana finished its schedule over the week-end by splitting with Ohio States for a record of six wins and three defeats. Ohio State, by winning one of the games, ended its season with one victory and 10 losses. Northwestern, in losing to Wisconsin finished the season without a victory in 11 starts. Wisconsin and Minnesota play Tuesday and Wednesday at Madison.

All-Star Night League Set To Open Tuesday

A gala program for the scheduled opening of the All-Star Night league, set for Lincoln park, Tuesday at 5 p. m. was being completed today by officials of the Marion Softball commission. The Eagles band, with Gene Williams directing, will present a half-hour concert, preceding the "play ball" call, which will begin the contest between the Elks and Moores & Ross teams.

Tentative plans to have a Columbus sports commentator handle the announcing over the public address system were not complete at noon today, officials in charge of the opening said. The stadium with a seating capacity of 700 has been augmented by the portable bleachers which will seat 2,000. Lights were connected last week and everything at the stadium was in readiness early today for the night league opening.

Six teams compose the All Star loop which will play under the lights on a schedule of three games a week. The second light league contest will be played Wednesday at 8:30 o'clock when the Shovel Co team meets the Axe Funeral squad, and on Friday night the Gasco aggregation will meet the K. of P. team.

PUBLIC LINKS PLAY SET FOR JULY 18, 19

Annual Tournament Will Be Held at J. Edward Good Course in Akron.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 1—The boys who carry their own golfing artillery and get in their licks before or after laboring in office or factory will come into their own July 18 and 19 in the annual Ohio Public links tournament.

Ray Pennell of Columbus, secretary of the Ohio Public Links association, who announced the site of the tournament as the J. Edward Good course in Akron, said about 100 golfers would compete in the 72-hole medal play event. He conferred Sunday with Charles Burns, manager of the Akron course.

This year Bill Clesey of Cincinnati, one-time amateur baseball player and now a distillery employe, will defend his title against competitors who must work their way up to the state tourney through district meets. He defeated Byron (Barney) Hunt of Columbus at Cincinnati last year in a close stretch drive.

Thirty-two of the public links leaders, including the champion and runner-up, will be eligible to enter the Ohio Amateur tournament at the Toledo Inverness course the first week in August.

WINS VETS' RACE

DETROIT, June 1 — Everett Saylor of Dayton, O., automobile race driver, held today the award for winning the 25-mile feature event at the Veterans of Foreign Wars speedway, Sunday. The race was his first on the track here.

CLEVELAND SCHOOL WINS TRACK CROWN

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 1—Cleveland East Tech and Oberlin High schools rode the crest today as track champions of their divisions in Ohio, after winning the laurels in Saturday's twenty-ninth annual state meet.

Toledo Scott, victor the last two years and champion of the Ohio Wesleyan relays, was shoved to third place as East Tech and Sandusky, winner of the Mansfield classic, jumped into the first two berths.

SHOVEL TEAM DROPS GAME TO JOHNSTOWN ON LOCAL FIELD, 2-1

Failure To Hit Safely Lands Marion Nine in Losing Column.

The Marion Steam Shovel baseball team dropped its Decoration day contest here to the Johnstown Rice Oilers, 2 to 1, in a scrappy contest which brought out neat playing by both squads.

The visiting team got eight hits off Fetter, while the Steam Shovel nine collected only five safe bingles off Rains, the Johnstown hurler. The Diggers were hitting in tough luck as shown by the fact that the visiting pitcher failed to get a single strike out.

Marion's scoring possibilities were erased on several occasions by the clever infield work of the Johnstown team. The invaders executed double plays at crucial moments to halt uprisings of the home squad.

The Sunday game with the West Mansfield Ramblers was cancelled when the visiting team failed to arrive at game time.

The box score of the Decoration day contest follows:

Speedy Boys

CINCINNATI—Cincinnati's "Ty Cobb infield" uses speed to advantage. In the Reds' first 22 games, they made 21 double killings while their opponents completed only 13. The Reds had less luck in clearing the bases of their own players, however, leaving 155 stranded on the bags as against 146 opponents left marooned.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

By The Associated Press

VAN LINGLE MUNGO, Dodgers—Held Giants to five hits in 4-1 win.

WALLY BERGER, Bees—Hit homer and double, the latter scoring winning run in 6-5 victory over Phillies.

ROGERS HORNSBY, Browns—His pinch-single in ninth sent deciding run over as Tigers were defeated 11-10.

JOE VOSMIK, Indians—Doubled to put Cleveland ahead to stay in 7-5 victory over Chicago.

STU MARTIN, Cardinals—Batted in three runs, including winning tally in the 12th against Reds.

PETE APPLETON, Senators—Fanned six and allowed only five hits in six-inning relief job in 6-4 victory over Athletics.

ETHAN ALLEN, Cubs—His single in tenth gave Cubs winning run in 8-7 defeat of Pirates.

JOE DI MAGGIO, Yanks—Broke up game with Red Sox with his triple in the 12th in 5-4 victory.

WRESTLE TONIGHT IN SHOVEL GYM

Tonight's wrestling program featuring two 90-minute bouts with two falls to win, and a 20-minute preliminary, will be held at the Shovel gymnasium.

The Star today publishes two installments of "Tim Tyler" and "Toots and Casper" to make up for omission of publication last Saturday, Memorial day. This is done in order to avoid a break in the serial story depicted by these two features. To provide the space required for these double installments, "Bringing Up Father" and "Polly and Her Pals" are omitted today.

I'VE REPLACED THE DOCUMENT IN YOUR HUSBAND'S POCKET

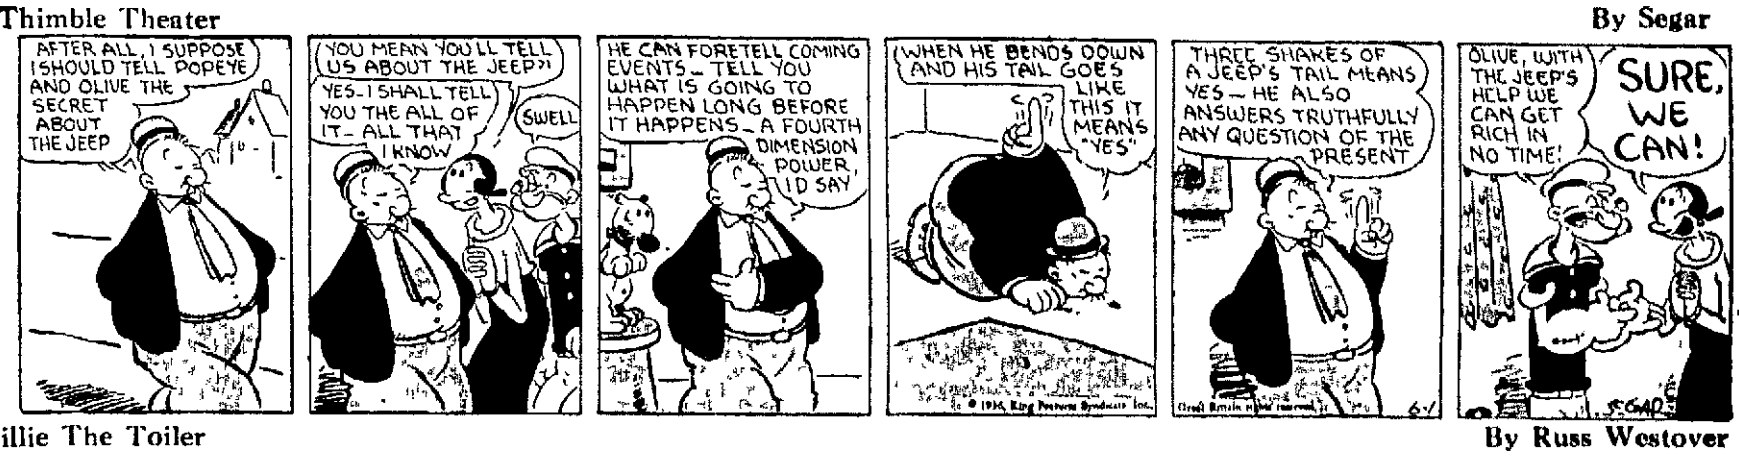
Thimble Theater — By Segar



AFTER ALL, I SUPPOSE I SHOULD TELL POPEYE AND OLIVE THE SECRET ABOUT THE JEEP
YOU MEAN YOU'LL TELL US ABOUT THE JEEP?!
YES- I SHALL TELL YOU THE ALL OF IT- ALL THAT I KNOW SWELL
HE CAN FORETELL COMING EVENTS - TELL YOU WHAT IS GOING TO HAPPEN LONG BEFORE IT HAPPENS - A FOURTH DIMENSION POWER, I'D SAY
WHEN HE BENDS DOWN AND HIS TAIL GOES LIKE THIS IT MEANS "YES"
THREE SHAKES OF A JEEP'S TAIL MEANS YES — HE ALSO ANSWERS TRUTHFULLY ANY QUESTION OF THE PRESENT
OLIVE, WITH THE JEEP'S HELP WE CAN GET RICH IN NO TIME!
SURE, WE CAN!
SEGAR

MY NAME'S BOLTON- MISS JONES ASKED ME TO SEE YOU
WHAT'S YOUR LINE?
HERE ARE SOME OF OUR NEW COTTON PRINTS
WAIT THERE'S SOMETHING FISHY. MISS JONES BUYS ALL OUR MATERIALS
TILLIE, ARE YOU SURE YOU WANTED THIS MAN BOLTON TO SEE ME?
I WANTED YOU TO SEE BOLTON'S MUSTACHE - THAT'S THE WAY YOURS SHOULD LOOK

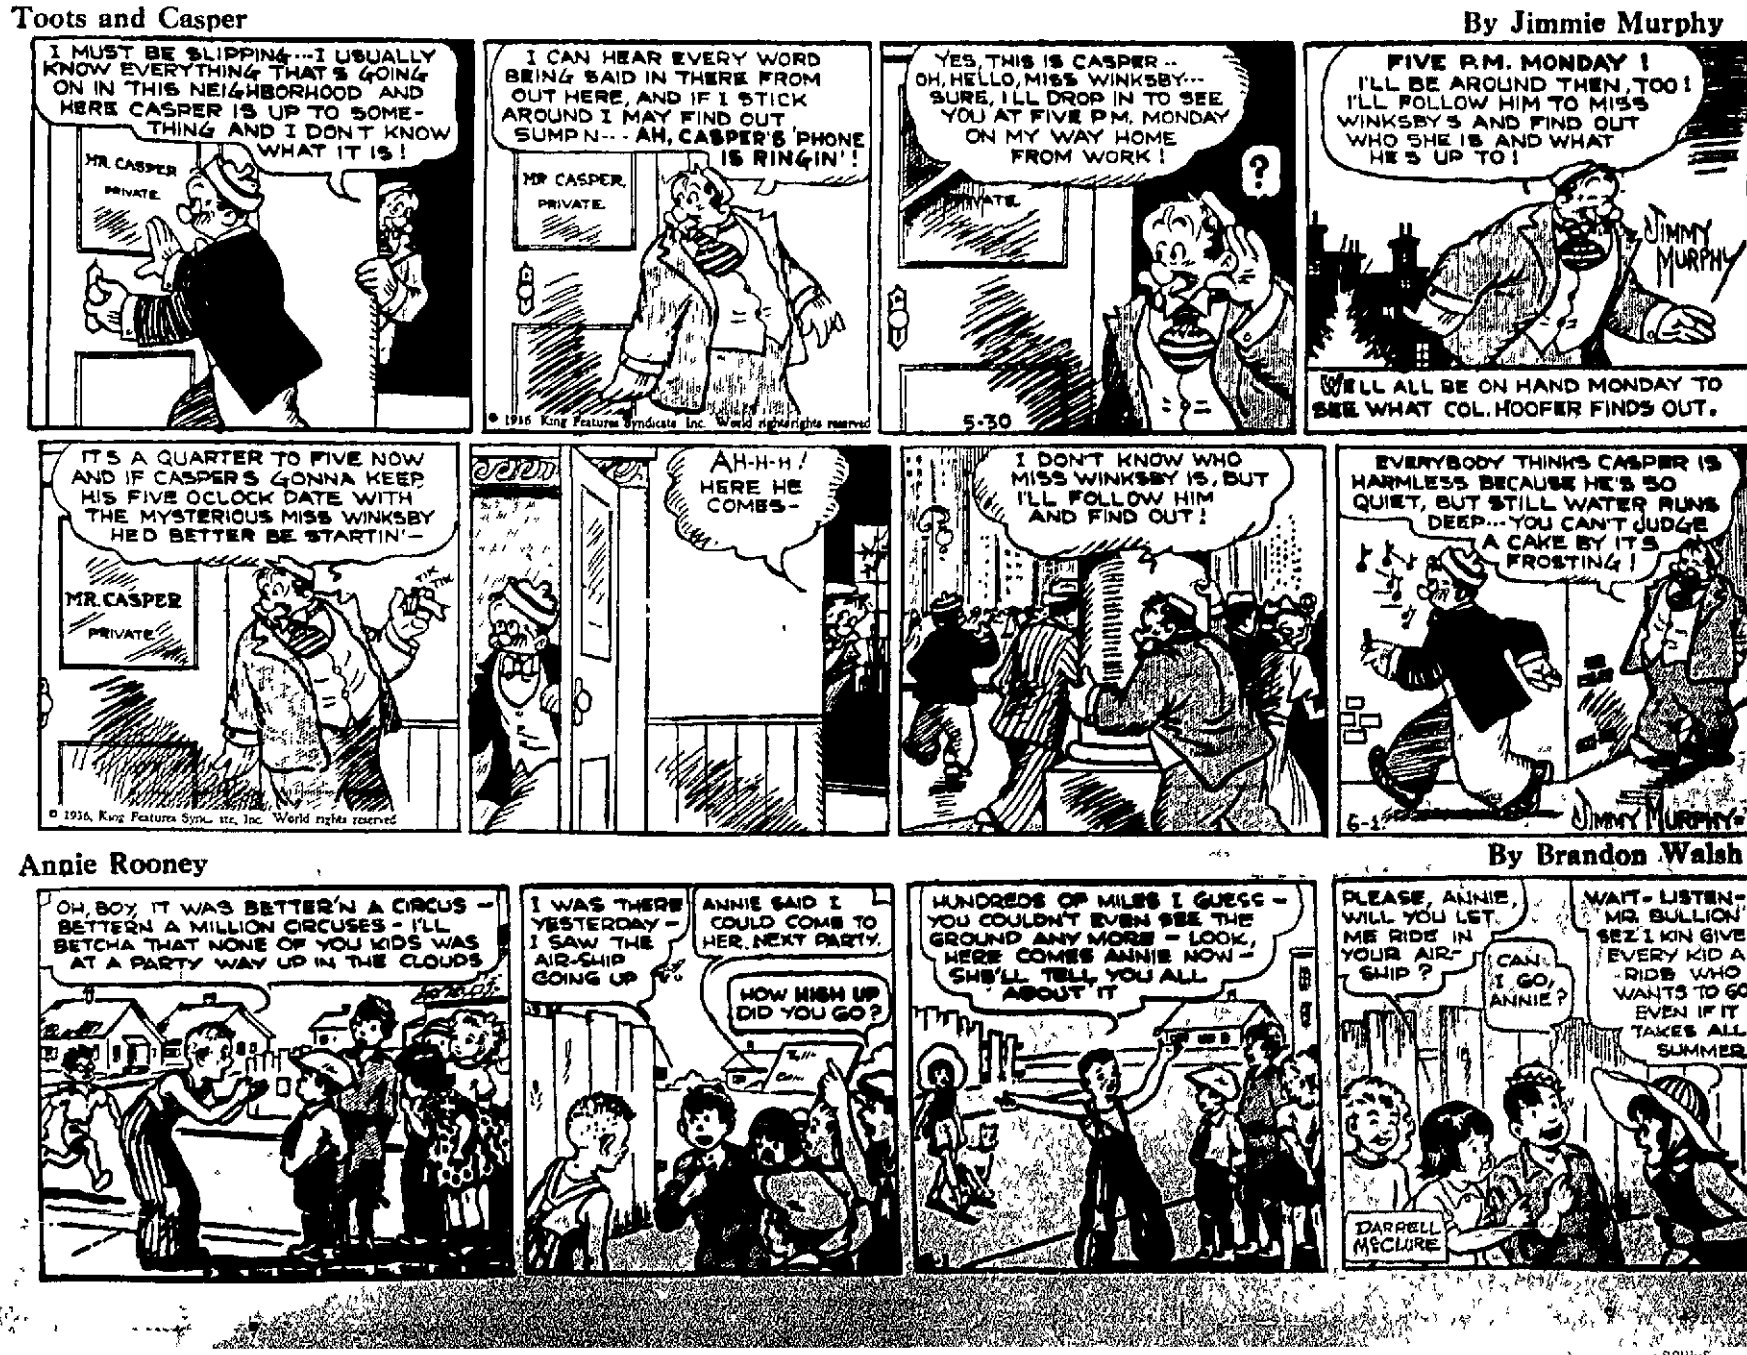
Toots and Casper — By Jimmie Murphy



I MUST BE SLIPPING--I USUALLY KNOW EVERYTHING THAT'S GOING ON IN THIS NEIGHBORHOOD AND HERE CASPER IS UP TO SOMETHING AND I DON'T KNOW WHAT IT IS!
MR. CASPER PRIVATE
I CAN HEAR EVERY WORD BEING SAID IN THERE FROM OUT HERE, AND IF I STICK AROUND I MAY FIND OUT SUMPN--- AH, CASPER'S 'PHONE IS RINGIN'!
© 1936 King Features Syndicate Inc. World rights reserved
YES, THIS IS CASPER -- OH, HELLO, MISS WINKSBY--- SURE, I'LL DROP IN TO SEE YOU AT FIVE P.M. MONDAY ON MY WAY HOME FROM WORK!
5-30
FIVE P.M. MONDAY! I'LL BE AROUND THEN, TOO! I'LL FOLLOW HIM TO MISS WINKSBY'S AND FIND OUT WHO SHE IS AND WHAT HE'S UP TO!
JIMMY MURPHY
WELL ALL BE ON HAND MONDAY TO SEE WHAT COL. HOOPER FINDS OUT.
IT'S A QUARTER TO FIVE NOW AND IF CASPER'S GONNA KEEP HIS FIVE O'CLOCK DATE WITH THE MYSTERIOUS MISS WINKSBY HE'D BETTER BE STARTIN'—

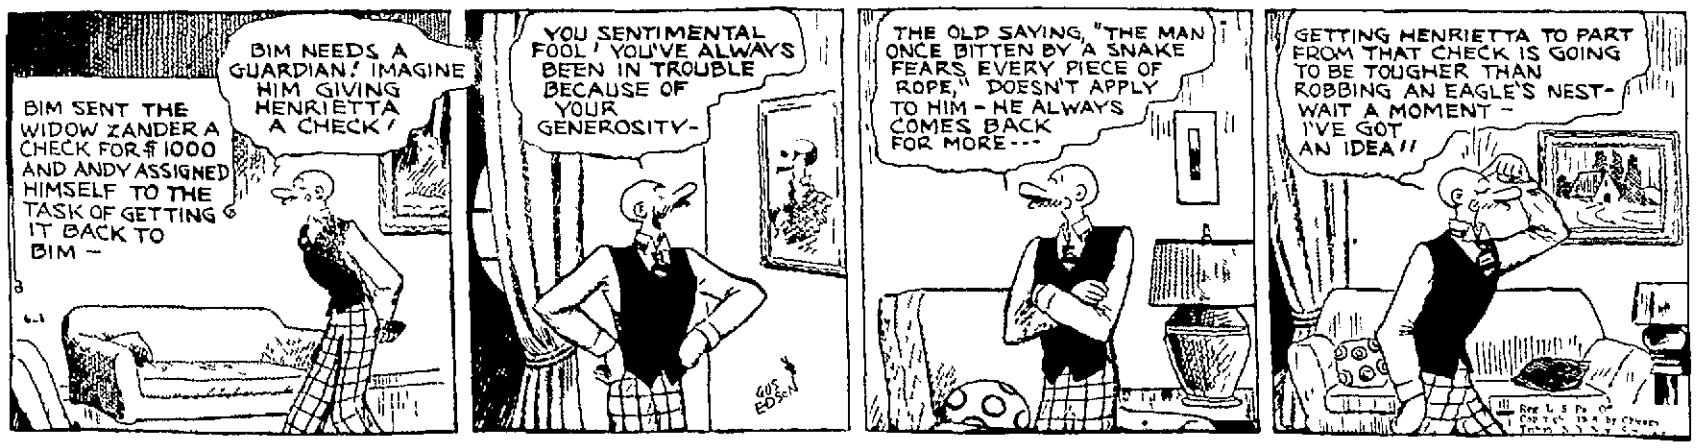
The Gumps — By Gus Edson



BIM SENT THE WIDOW ZANDER A CHECK FOR $1000 AND ANDY ASSIGNED HIMSELF TO THE TASK OF GETTING IT BACK TO BIM — BIM NEEDS A GUARDIAN! IMAGINE HIM GIVING HENRIETTA A CHECK!
YOU SENTIMENTAL FOOL! YOU'VE ALWAYS BEEN IN TROUBLE BECAUSE OF YOUR GENEROSITY-
THE OLD SAYING, "THE MAN ONCE BITTEN BY A SNAKE FEARS EVERY PIECE OF ROPE," DOESN'T APPLY TO HIM - HE ALWAYS COMES BACK FOR MORE---
GETTING HENRIETTA TO PART FROM THAT CHECK IS GOING TO BE TOUGHER THAN ROBBING AN EAGLE'S NEST- WAIT A MOMENT - I'VE GOT AN IDEA!!
GUS EDSON
